Wearers, Designers Clash Over New Fashion Trends

Designers have a hornet's nest brewed about their ears. They, according to an editorial in a Detroit paper last week, have upset the economic balance of the feminine world more completely than it has been done before.

To follow the new trend, every feminine wardrobe will have to be scrapped. This at a time when the economic strain is very severe. The average working girl has all she can do to handle her current financial obligations, without having to buy an entire new wardrobe.

Vigorous Protest In Texas the women just came right out and said what they thought of the idea. To put it colleges girls demanding to know why anyone would think this would bring the hems down, and pointing out that wet skirt edges from fall rains and winter snows were, in their estimation, nothing comfortable.

Another outburst is coming from the younger women who are not pleased about picturing themselves looking like barrels, or eggs. The new lines for fall and winter will make them do just that, according to many designers. They will have the sloping shoulders of a decade or so ago, wider hip lines, and a definite tendency toward the hobble skirt.

With women's clothes playing the financial part in the national picture that they do today, it is interesting to note the outcome of this battle between designer and wearer.

In one year a female moth and her dependants can destroy as much wool as 13 sheep can produce in the same period.

Former Resident Becomes Bride of Mt. Clemens Man

A wedding of interest to Birmingham residents took place at 8:30 Saturday night in Lima, Ohio, when Jacqueline Potter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Walter Potter, former residents, became the bride of James Fredrick Pingel, son of Mrs. and Mr. George Pingel of Mt. Clemens.

The beautiful ceremony was officiated in Christ Church, Episcopal, with the Rev. Stephen M. Keaker officiating.

The altar, before which the vows were taken, was flanked by tall arrangements of gladioli and dahlias in bronze and peach, with matching bouquets marking the church aisles. Cathedral candles outlined the chancel rail, while white gladioli and dahlias filled the altar vases. Miss Helen G. Hawkins, organist, rendered traditional nuptial music during the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white heirloom satin trimmed with rose pink lace. She edged the neckline of the tight-fitting bodice and the long tapering sleeves of the gown with lines of lace.

Her veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliette cap, and swept to the floor. She carried a large bridal bouquet of white roses and gardenias was centered with a white orchid.

Miss Geraldine Strong of Syracuse, N. Y., as maid of honor, was a guest of honor. The bridesmaids, the Misses Phyllis Chapel, Betty Middleton and Lynn Lyle, of Birmingham, and Miss Shirley Symmons of Lansing, wore gowns of soft grey crepe. Their gowns were all fashioned alike, with high round necklines, cap sleeves and bouffant skirts.

John S. Pingel of Lansing, brother of the groom was the best man. The ushers were Horace A. Potter, Jr., Lima, Ohio, brother of the bride, Frederick Gemmer, Robert Bardgeon and James Donaldson, all of Mt. Clemens.

The bride's mother selected a gown of beige crepe with a Venetian lace trim. Her hat was of matching set, trimmed with ostrich tips of Hunter's green. She wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. Pingel was gowned in rose crepe, with which she wore a black maline hat and a corsage of gardenias.

A reception was held for 225 at the Shawnee Country club, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to South Haven, Mich. The bride chose a gubardine suit in aqua with brown accessories. She wore the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Marjole Lane, Mrs. Norman Lyle, Mrs. Maude S. Gilman and William Sanders attended from Birmingham.

Ann Willson Wins Place in National Tennis Tournament

Ann Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Willson of Cranbrook road, left for Philadelphia Friday, accompanied by her mother, where she will take part in the National Girls' Tennis tournament. Play started Monday at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Ann, who has been playing in local competitive tennis tournaments for the past three years, won the Kingswood school championship this year at Cranbrook. She also took part in the Michigan State and Orchard Lake country club tournaments. This year, her first year in state meets, saw her surge to the top-ranking players among Michigan girls.

In Philadelphia she will enter the singles, with the possibility of having a draw-partner for doubles competition. It is almost her first experience with brown accessories, because of the majority of them in this section being clay or black-top, and will present new playing problems to the young local star.

COOL CHECK

THIS charming yellow dress is a "differer" because of its unusual shirred bodice and short dolman-type sleeves. There's style new, too, in the fine one-denier fabric made of Avico rayon. It's cool, serviceable, and washable. ## Before the School Bell Rings Again

Defective vision is a serious handicap to children who attend school, and parents should not wait until school opens to have their child's eyes examined, but should attend to this important duty before the school bell rings again. They will be better able to take up their school work if any defects of vision are corrected beforehand.
