

Saturday Bride-Elect and Fiance Honored at Final Parties

More parties for Mary Virginia Lawson, bride-elect whose wedding to Lee St. John will be an event of February 15, were on this week's calendar for the busy bride-to-be.

A dinner party for her and her fiance were given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Groves in their home on Big Beaver road recently, and Tuesday was the night of another party in their honor at Hyla's Dining Room in the Fisher Building. The party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porritt of Lincoln road.

The rehearsal dinner is to be held at the home of the bride on Thursday night.

Hoover-Peabody Vows to be Spoken on February 22

Patricia Peabody, daughter of Mrs. Stanley Peabody and the late Mr. Peabody of Quanton road, whose wedding will take place February 22 at the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. W. Glen Harris performing the ceremony, has completed the plans for her marriage to Glen Charles Hoover, son of Mrs. Adelaide Hoover of Townsend avenue.

The bride-elect has asked Mrs. Donald Parry of Birmingham, while her matron-of-honor and Joyce Johnson of Royal Oak and Janet Zinner of Birmingham to be bridesmaids.

The best man will be Thomas Stolberg of Birmingham, while Donald Ellenwood and Robert Peabody, also of Birmingham, will act as the guests.

A reception will follow the ceremony at the home of the bride.

Recent showers in Patricia's honor have been given by Mrs. Robert Peabody and Mrs. James Peabody at the latter's home. The occasion was a table-top shower, while last Wednesday Barbara Fox and Nan McQueen feted the bride-to-be at a kitchen shower and tea at Barbara's home on Lake Park road.

St. Dunstan's Chapel Scene of Golling-Hollweg Rites

At a candlelight, double ring ceremony in St. Dunstan's Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday, A. William Golling Jr. and Adele Grace Hollweg were united.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hollweg of Armeida and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Golling of Golling road.

The bride was given away by her brother, Robert Hollweg, in a golden white net over satin, which roses were applied. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a satin bridle, coronet, and her bouquet was of sweet peas, white orchids and hyacinths.

Ellen Harshorn of Bad Axe, a gown of violet marquisette over taffeta, highlighted by her headpiece of pink shatterd carnations and her colonial bouquet of violets and the pink carnations.

Best man was Watts Wacker of Birmingham, while Robert Jessup, Jack Stegman and Stan Peterson of Birmingham and Raymond Perry of Detroit served as ushers.

The bride's mother's dress was a powder blue crepe, and she wore a floppy hat of dusty rose, while Mrs. Golling chose a navy blue bolero suit with powder blue trim, and accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of lavender orchids.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the Community House, from which the newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon before returning to their studies at Hillsdale College.

The new Mr. Golling's going-away suit was light grey, and she wore navy blue accessories and an orchid from the bridal bouquet.

Garden Club Gives Valentine Tea at Community House

Despite bad driving conditions, a large number of members turned out for the regular monthly meeting of the Birmingham Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, held in the Community House last Monday afternoon.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. George J. Houston, director of Garden Center at Belle Isle, gave a talk on the use of granular insulating material for propagating seeds without danger of "damping off," and also encouraged the use of these materials in patches in the garden.

She also recommended giving the new varieties of plants a place in the garden and suggested growing many different varieties of one kind of plant.

For the tea hour following Mrs. Bouton's talk, the Ruth Shafn room was decorated for St. Valentine's Day. The focal point centered in the tea table, which was arranged by Mrs. Edith Slavson. The table was centered with a huge corsage of lavender-sweet peas arranged in a vase with tiny bouquets attached.

A display of hairloom valentines owned by Mrs. F. R. Sagers was exhibited on the mantle, flanked by cherubs and candles.

Mrs. Sarah Slavson was chairman for the day and Mrs. James D. Rogers, co-chairman. Assisting them were Mrs. B. M. McCrehan, Mrs. George Nelson, Mrs. W. Clifton Randall, Mrs. Carl Rice and Mrs. R. F. Rettler.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Lewis Clark Dibble, Mrs. Fred E. Sagers, Mrs. J. Vinton Birch and Mrs. C. C. Otto.
