Grimshaw-Kuhlman Rites Read on Valentine's Day

St. Valentine's Day was chosen by Dorothy Kuhlman in a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie A. Kuhlman of Hayes street and Glenn A. Grimshaw of Townside avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Grimshaw of Clawson, as the date of their marriage.

The couple spoke their vows at the First Methodist Church in an evening ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, huge baskets of white stock and gladioli and white tapers in tall candleholders.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a high round neck and a sheer yoke of georgette from her mother's wedding dress. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo with a full gathered skirt. The bride wore no jewelry except a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. The fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a jewel cap fashioned of ivory satin and simulated orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with streamers of stock blossoms.

The gowns of the two attendants were of light fuchsia faille, fashioned with a low round neck and a narrow bertha around the shoulders, and both wore bands of river sequins as headpieces.

Marlene Riese of Detroit, as maid of honor, carried a colonial bouquet of pastel blue and pink carnations with white sweet peas, while Isabel Smith of Birmingham carried yellow carnations with white stock, tied with yellow ribbon.

Kenneth Grimshaw of Ferndale served as best man with Robert F. Krug, Leslie Grimshaw and Howard Krug of Royal Oak, and Harley Goodhue of Detroit, seating the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kuhlman chose an aqua-green length dress with short shirred sleeves and black accessories, while the groom's mother chose a grey afternoon dress trimmed in coral with which she wore a grey hat and white gloves. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

Following the reception in the church parlors, the couple left for a week at the St. Clair Inn. The new Mrs. Grimshaw wore an aqua gaborde suit, fashioned with a short jacket and a pleated peplum, with which she wore brown accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

The newlyweds will reside at 371 Townsend avenue when they return from their wedding trip.
