Marjorie Jean Booth Wed at Lovely Afternoon Ceremony

White larkspur and shasta daisies adorned the altar of Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock as Marjorie Jean Booth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Scripps Booth of Martell drive, repeated her marriage vows to Victor Charles Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Albert Koch of Grosse Pointe, before the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Cadogan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bridal gown of ivory silk satin and net, fashioned with broad panels of the filmy net on which clusters of satin roses were applied. The deep yoke of net was also applied with the rose motifs, and the long satin sleeves extended into two points over the hands.

A close fitting cap held her veil of white illusion, which followed the lines of the rounding train of the gown. A shower bouquet of white roses formed the bridal bouquet.

As Sister's Maid of Honor, Sall Booth, as her sister's maid of honor, was gowned in a marquisette frock of pale yellow, fashioned with a plaited of shoulder bertha. Her headress was a wreath of yellow daisies caught with a pale yellow velvet ribbon, and her arm bouquet was of pale yellow daisies.

The bridesmaids, Dolio (Dorothy Ellen) Booth, Mrs. Gordon Craig, both sisters of the bride; Nancy Newcomb, cousin of the bride; Ann Robinson of Dunblin, N. Y.; Mrs. Ernest R. Breech, Jr. of Springfield, Mass.; and Mrs. Daulton Mann, Jr. of New York, wore gowns in a pale green, fashioned similarly to that of the honor maids.

Their headresses were wreaths of shasta daisies caught with matching green velvet streamers, and they carried arm bouquets of shasta daisies.

Flower Girl and Ring Bearer
Little Karen Gretchen Koch, sister of the groom, as flower girl, was dressed like the bridesmaid.

Mrs. Victor Charles Koch

in a gown of green marquisette and the bride's young brother, Robert Tucker Koch, brother of the groom; Wendover Holtworth, Alger Sheldon, Stanley Day, Joseph Lackey, Hugh Mulkey, Lou A. Maxon, all of Detroit; Casew Martindale of Lansing; Daulton Mann, Jr. of New York, and Marshall Hardy of Louisville, Ky.

A floor length gown of pale peacock blue chiffon with matching lace and a halo-headress of brown lace trimmed with tiny egretts of the same shade, was worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. Booth. Her corsage was a cluster of brown and yellow butterfly orchids.

Honeymooning at Lake Louise
Mrs. Koch chose a gown of imported pink lace, with which she wore a hat of pink maline trimmed with matching ostrich feathers and a white orchid corsage.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a wedding trip to Banff, Lake Louise and the Mallin Club, after which they will spend a few weeks at the Koch family farm, Hilly Acres, on Long Lake road, before leaving for Charlottesville, Va., where Victor will continue his college studies.

The bride chose a silk print suit of black and white on a lime background for traveling, with black accessories and a corsage of Rurum lilies.

Mrs. Charles Shain
To Take Part in
AAUW Discussion

Mrs. Charles Shain of Pierce street, chairman of international relations for the Birmingham branch of the American Association of University Women, will take part in a two-day discussion at the conference being held in Toronto Aug. 11 to 16. The discussion will be on international economic life and will be presented as a panel and open talk.

Over two hundred women, representing 30 nations, will be present at this, the first conference held since 1939. This is the first time the conference has been held outside the European continent, a move made necessary because of war conditions.

Mrs. Shain will leave for the conference on Sunday, Aug. 11.
