Many Place
Taking first and second places in the amateur hunter thoroughbred class were Olamara and Tofens, both V. N. Nicholls entries.

David J. Gowans Married Saturday

The Lutheran Nazareth Church in Detroit was the scene last Wednesday evening of the marriage ceremony of Edna Jean Rush, daughter of Mrs. Clara Rush of Detroit, and David J. Gowans, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Gowans of Davis avenue.

A figured white organly gown was worn by the bride, her veil was fingertip length, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and white carnations.

Henry Stephens of Detroit, as the bride's only attendant, wore a gown of blue organly and carried yellow daisies.

Donald Littlefield of Detroit was best man, and Colin Gowans, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Gowans, was usher.

About two hundred were present at the wedding ceremony, with relatives and friends attending the reception at the Wardell-Sheraton Hotel following the rites.

The bride's mother chose a pink linen street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow sea roses. The groom's mother was attired in a blue cotton eyedress dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The couple have returned from a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, and will be at home at 509 Sixth avenue in Detroit until September when they will leave for Kentucky.

Mr. Gowans has accepted position as teacher of instrumental music at Murray University there.

Will Speak Marriage Vows Saturday Morn

At a double ring ceremony at the St. James Episcopal Church held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Virginia Lee Flatman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick P. Flatman of Spring street, West Bloomfield, spoke her vows to Everett Bruce Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Austin of Pontiac.

Arrangements of white peonies, larkspur and stock adorned the altar as the bride descended the aisle on the arm of her father.

Her gown of white French lace was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, caught with white beaded clasps, and the long sleeves were pointed over her hands. The skirt ended in a short train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, carnations and larkspur.

Bridesmaid Wears Pink
As the bride's only attendant, Clarissa Saltzinger wore a pink net gown accented with blue bows on the front of the skirt. Her tiny cap was made of pink bows and net, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, carnations and larkspur.

Charles Austin was his brother's best man, with Jack F. Flatman, brother of the bride, and Robert Austin, brother of the groom, as ushers.

Mrs. Flatman chose a brown faille suit, fashioned with a peppy and white accessories for her daughter's wedding, while the groom's mother wore a fuchsia afternoon dress with white accessories.

Both mothers wore corsages of gardenias.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon at the Austin cabin at Occochee, the new Mrs. Austin chose a light green summer-weight wool suit with which she wore white accessories and a white gardenia corsage, for her going-away ensemble.

They are now at home at 3135 Springs street.
