

John Crim, Jean Beresford Married at Evening Rites

The altar and chancel rail of Christ Church Cranbrook was decorated with larkspur, madonna lilies and carnations for the evening candlelight rites of Jean Beresford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin MacFarland Beresford of Westwood drive, and John Winthrop Crim, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Crim of Beverly road. They were united in marriage by the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Cadigan.

The bride's heavy slipper satin gown had a rich antique ivory tone, and was fashioned with a deeply rounded neckline with light long sleeves edged in pearl embroidered rose points lace from her mother's wedding gown. The full circular skirt ended in a cathedral train.

Her headpiece of heirloom Belgian lace of princess applique formed a cap and extended in double panels along the full length veil of silk illusion.

The bridal bouquet was a corsage of orchids, Johanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

Mary Beresford, the bride's cousin and maid of honor, and the five bridesmaids wore identical tissue taffeta dresses of Capri blue designed with deep basque waists, square necklines, short sleeves and matching gauntlets. Butterfly bows gave a bustle effect to the back of the skirts. The maid of honor's bouquet was of salmon glameillas, kokomo carnations and ivy.

Her other attendants, Marjorie Striffler of East Lansing, Nancy Lord, Joy Woolson and Jean Grindley of Birmingham, and Elizabeth Ward of Pontiac, carried crescents of yellow daisies, yellow carnations and ivy.

All the bridesmaids wore tiaras of flowers to match their bouquets.

William D. Crim, Jr., was his brother's best man, with William Thompson Beresford, brother of the bride, Minerva Tatum Wright III, of Philadelphia, Charles Lester Harrison of Cincinnati, Emory Frederick Alan Schney of Northville, James Shelby Wilding Fox of Birmingham, and Ensign Joseph Cassidy of Chicago as ushers.

Mrs. Beresford chose a gown of pure tulle crepe with jewel buttons, and wore a hat of pink roses to match, and a corsage of Picardy glameillas.

For her, son's wedding, Mrs. Crim wore a gold color dress with a hat of matching roses, and her corsage was also of glameillas.

After a reception at Pine Lake Country Club, the newlyweds left for a motor trip with the new Mrs. Crim wearing a yellow palm beach suit with a white panama hat and white accessories and the orchids from the bridal bouquet.

They will make their home in Williamville, N. Y.

Local Boys Again Stage Their Annual Carnival

Any of the hundreds of local residents who have attended Birmingham's own original carnival will vouch for the ingenuity of members of own town's younger set.

Today will mark the third year that two young teenagers, Dave Beatty and Sterling Washington are staging their version of "carnival", and for the third year it will be held at the Withington home at 532 Brookside road.

Attracts 200

"It's for benefit," the boys announced in a recent interview. "Our benefit?" But even if the proceeds do go to the many youngsters who lend a helping hand getting all the various and insundry acts in shape, who is there who will not give them credit for their enterprising natures?

Dave and Sterling started these large-scale ventures at the age of eleven, and have managed since then to attract about 200 people each year, with profits exceeding $50 per annum.

Something new has been added this year—the addition of an extensive publicity campaign, highlighted by the dropping of leaflets from aloft, and the use of loud-speaker advertising uptown.

Features Carnival Acts

The boys stated that Richard Armbrecht will again be back as the featured attraction with his magic show, and that the best-rides on the Rouge, horseback riding, and all the usual carnival acts will be available, including an opportunity to have three tries at amiable Sterling, who acts as the target in the baseball throwing attraction.

Working on arrangements for the event are Esther Mark, Barbara Stauffer, Doc LeVeque, Edgar Ellis, Barbara Rooborough, Karen Oldberg and Bill Atkins.

Jerry Neff Chosen For Interlochen

Jerry Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Neff of Kenesaw road, has been chosen as a member of the two-week all-state high school orchestra conducted by the University of Michigan at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. from June 30 to July 14, it was announced this week by Professor Earl V. Moore, director of the school of music at the University.

Barbara Higbie Speaks Vows to Dorr J. Lovett Saturday

The altar and chancel rail at Christ Church Cranbrook were decorated with white floral arrangements Saturday afternoon for the double ring ceremony at which Barbara Cooper Higbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Bradley Lovett, Jr., of Squirrel road, became the bride of Dorr J. Lovett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lovett of Adams road. The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Cadigan performed the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of heavy white tulle, designed with a square neckline, a marquise set yoke, the long sleeves pointed over the hands, and a short train.

A Queen Ann's cap of rose point lace held in place the full length veil of illusion, and the bridal bouquet was of stephanotis.

Yellow organza gowns, worn with matching horsehair braids and bouquets of daisies, philadelphian and ivy, were worn by all the attendants.

Julia Lusk of Peoria, Ill., as maid of honor, was distinguished by heavy white tulle, designed with a square neckline, a marquise set yoke, the long sleeves pointed over the hands, and a short train.

Mrs. N. Bradley, III, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Lovett, sister of the groom, wore bridesmaid, white Ann and Carla Hensley, cousin of the bride, wore junior bridesmaid.

John Lovett, Jr., was his brother's best man while the guests were seated by Thomas Lovett, brother of the groom, N. Bradley Higbie, III, brother of the bride, Charles Wright of Detroit, Bruce Beaudette of Bloomfield Hills, and David Dows, Josiah Thompson and Basil Stetson, all of New York City.

Mrs. Dorr Felt Lovett

Mrs. Higbie chose a grey floor-length dress trimmed in brown lace, with a brown halo hat, matching accessories, and brown orchids, while the groom's mother wore a beige gown trimmed in black lace, with which she wore a hat of black lace and tulle. She also wore an orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the Higbie home on Squirrel road. Following that wedding trip the couple will reside in Birmingham.

James-Alexander Troth Told Sunday

At a tea Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Alexander of Grosse Pointe, the engagement of their daughter, Lois McNIerney, to Norman James, Jr., was announced. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman James of Winblinton road.

The bride-elect attended Marjorie Webster School in Washington, D. C., while her fiancé is a recent graduate of the Babson Institute of Business Administration at Babson Park, Mass.

The couple plan a fall wedding.
