Golf Club Members Hold Stag Program Despite the Rain

Rain retarded the activities of the golfers at the Birmingham Country Club stag day last Saturday, but the 250 members and guests made the most of a bad situation and enjoyed themselves in the usual stag day manner.

The fairways were all soggy and places under water, but about 100 men teed off and finished 18 holes of golf. O. W. Ellstrom took low gross honors for the day when he turned in a remarkable 74, one stroke ahead of William H. Jordan's 75 and Elmer Ellstrom and Harold Stewart's 76's. C. J. Casey was another member who broke 80 for the round. He had a 78. Among the guests, only Boyd Giesey was able to turn the trick. He got in under the wire with a 79.

A fine buffet dinner was served and the day was completed with the awarding of prizes and a floor show.
