

Plea for MOMS At Veteran's Hospital Received

At the first board meeting of the current year, Mrs. L. James Lee, president of the MOM's Club, outlined many interesting plans and read requests from organizations she has received.

One of the most important of these came from Mrs. Curtis M. Steele, the MOM's State Hospital chairman, for the Birmingham Club to take one day a week for the rest of the summer, to visit the veterans in the Veterans Hospital at Dearborn.

Until this time, the MOM's had been visiting the hospital one day a week, three weeks of every other month.

The potluck luncheon to be held Mrs. Vici's home has been postponed a week and is now scheduled for June 26 at 12:30 p.m.

Members will bring a package of cigarettes, a bar of soap, shaving lotion or anything a veteran might use, for the hospital committee, as well as a slip from some garden-plant and a complete service for themselves.

Several pieces of land have been set aside in this enchanting residential development for parks and recreation, one of which is Crabapple Commons with tennis, badminton, shuffle board courts, private stable, a Shetland pony riding-ring and many other intriguing features.

Where else is there a residential community that offers so much?

Married in Evening Rites Saturday at Christ Church

Before an altar adorned with vases of white lilies, and bouquets of white lilies, anemones, gladioli and stock at the chancel rail, Patricia Mary Daniels, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Daniels of Telegraph road, exchanged her wedding vows with William Merritt Beane, Jr., in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at Christ Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Beane of Forty Fort, Pa. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Charles H. Cadigan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was robed in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned in traditional lines, with a fold of satin outlining the illusion neckline. This was edged with duchesse lace, which was part of her mother's wedding dress, and the same lace was at the wrist of the long sleeves.

The skirt ended in a long train, and her veil was of double illusion fastened to a Juliet cap of the same lace.

The bridal bouquet was of white stephanotis and double white narcissus centered with a white orchid.

The four attendants, Marilyn Daniels, the maid of honor and sister of the bride, and Betty Lou Hubbard of Pontiac, and Shirley Siskels of Grosse Pointe were in identical dresses of yellow faille. They also wore yellow lace mits and hats of brown tulle, and their bouquets were of black-eyed susans tied with brown satin ribbon matching their headpieces.

The gowns were styled with fitted bodices, shirred front panels, and short puff sleeves.

Shubrick Kotte of Indianapolis, Ind., served as best man, with Robert Gordon of Washington, D. C., Neil McKay of Chicago, Robert Hancock of Redding, Pa., Russell Ryan, Jr., of Indianapolis and Tom Daniels, brother of the bride, as ushers.

Magnolia crepe with a square scalloped neckline outlined in gold and seed pearls and a gold head-dress was worn by the bride's mother. She wore green orchids pinned to her purse.

Mrs. Beane chose a draped model of navy crepe for her son's wedding, with which she wore a matching hat and a corsage of shattered deep pink roses.

Following the reception held at the home of the bride's parents at Rydell Farms, the couple left for a wedding trip to Potawatomi, Ind. Tradition again entered the event in the wedding cake, which was made by Mrs. Daniels from a recipe used by her at her wedding and by the bride's grandmother.

For traveling the new Mrs. Beane chose a dressmaker suit of coutille blue, with which she wore a natural straw hat, champagne colored gloves and alligator shoes and bag. Her corsage was the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

Upon the return from the honeymoon, the couple will make their home in Ann Arbor.
