Grover DeWolfe, John Meyer, Robin Muller, Bill Nicholas, Max Putters, Jack Stiffler, John Vise and Peter Wentworth.

Prior to the award ceremonies, H. G. Tarasch, chairman of the Troop Committee, introduced Harold Holmes, scoutmaster, and Robert Gougous, assistant scoutmaster, and praised them for their leadership.

Build "Monkey" Bridge

As a demonstration of skill, the troop built a suspension-type "monkey" bridge in front of the audience.

Roland Reese, representative of the Lions Club which sponsors Troop B-4, complimented the troop on its activities and accomplishments of the past year and pledged continued support from the sponsors.

Announcement was also made that Troop B-4 will camp as a different age groups will be arranged on demand.

Many Swimming Classes

Softball for adults will be held on the Barnum, Pierce and Torrey diamond every week evening. City, church and women leagues will play for the city championship. This program is under the direction of Ed Kierbit of the "Y" and he may be contacted at 124.

Swimming for all ages will be on at the Barnum pool weekdays afternoons and evenings. Children's enrollment fee for 40 persons is $2. Individual persons 10 cents each. Adults will be charged 25 cents each swim. Swimmers must furnish their own swim towel and suit.

Expert instruction will be given in basic swimming and diving, life saving, water safety and first aid and the program will be interspersed with swimming meets, a water carnival, stunts, games and relays.

This is the tentative pool schedule, which will be in effect on opening day, Monday:

One to 1:30 p. m., beginning girls (first class); 1:30 to 2 p. m., beginning boys (first class); 2 to 2:30 p. m., beginning girls (second class); 2:30 to 3 p. m., beginning boys (second class); 3:30 to 4 p. m., advanced girls; and 4 to 5 p. m., advanced boys. Evening classes are scheduled for 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, although they will also be given on Mondays and Fridays if the demand is sufficient, and special water parties may be arranged.

School Play Centers

A series of weekly street dances, scheduled for Wednesday evenings from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., will begin this week on the half with terrace. Novelty dancing will be featured, and refreshments will be served.

Instrumental music classes will again be arranged this year according to individual abilities. Every weekday morning classes will go on and also on Wednesday evenings. The classes will be limited in size and orchestra rehearsals will be arranged. The enrollment fee is $1.50, full tuition information to be had by calling 1332.

For children from five to 15 years of age, the play centers at Adams, Quanton, Pierce and Torrey playgrounds will be opened Friday afternoons. Activities will include handicraft, box play, games, playground and selling, free play and first aid, under supervision of one of the directors.

Barnum Workshop

The Barnum School workshop will also be open every weekday afternoon for older children. Here group construction projects may be carried out, as well as individual handicraft, minor bicycle repair, toy and gift making, wood, butchering, and nail bending.

Miss Betty Steeles, of Bham 3648 can give further information on specialties included in this offering.

Springdale Park is open every day for picnicking of all ages. There golf, horseshoes, tennis, shady tables, and a refreshment stand are available. Family and local organizations will be welcomed, and special golf rates are available to residents for season play. Both city and school tennis courts; the one at Springdale, the one at Adams School, two at Barnum and two at Hill, will be open seven days a week during daylight hours, although younger children will be limited to morning play only. Arrangements can be made for private lessons by phoning 3848. The tennis season will close with a citywide tournament.

Other tournaments will be on weekday afternoons for everyone. Barnum school will serve as general headquarters for holding the following tournaments: baseball at Barnum, bicycling at Pierce, checkers at Barnum, football kickers and passing at Barnum, golf at Springdale Park, horseshoes at Barnum, jackstones at Barnum, kite flying at Pierce, marbles at Barnum, ping pong at Barnum, roller skating at Barnum, rope jumping at Barnum, softball on different diamonds, tennis at Hill, letter ball at Barnum, and track and field at Pierce.

The Community House takes part in the program with many Wild directing activities, sponsoring the Group 19-30. These are young adults between 19 and 30 who meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the House for a variety of indoor and outdoor activities.

site need for education, he said he believed graduates should include a course in religion in every year they spent in college, or study thoroughly if they did not attend school.

"Find out what your religion means, its heritage," he told them. "Too many people know nothing about it except its more superficial aspects. These same people are in need of the security and steadfastness of religion. They have fallen prey, however, to the pitfall many of our older generation have succumbed to—they have forgotten to keep their minds open and have followed ideas advanced by unscrupulous persons, without seeing both sides of the question."

Both Sides of Question

"In order to be fair in arriving at a sound, mature judgment, you must be sure to become thoroughly acquainted with both sides of the question and then balance each side against the ideal of Christian love for your fellow men."

"Dictators and other men know that constantly bearing love for your fellow men is the hardest thing to do and that it is easier to breed hate than love, suspicion than trust; and you may be the reliable victim unless you have acquired perception and knowledge."

Illustrating his remarks with the picture of Jesus Christ, he said, "Our Lord had a well-ordered, intelligent mind, capable of discerning along with his fellow. He was great because he had universal talents, knowledge, and always kept his love for all creatures uppermost in his mind."

Bringing together the two themes of his sermon—the constant quest for information, always balanced by a love and consideration for all—the Rev. Howard closed his remarks to the graduates with the admonition: "Keep this universal love burning before you at all times. If it had been practiced without discrimination, the world would be much better shape than it is right now. Follow it, and you can change the world."

problems of self government operated in Michigan.

Upon their arrival at the campus each boy, in addition to being appointed to one of the two political parties, "Trojan" or "Athenian," will be permanently assigned to an imaginary city of about 500 people, each city occupies a small portion of a large map or globe where there will be bunkers for the boys' sleeping quarters.

The citizens then held elections for officers and combine with each other to form a county which elects county officers.

The latter part of their stay the boys will be able to run for the more important state offices.

Try Again for Trophy

In addition to running for office and receiving instruction on procedure of government, the boys will publish a daily paper called "The Whirlwind."

For their amusement and pleasure there will be music, soft ball, tennis, and many other games.

The Dul M. Cox Trophy has been awarded to the seventeenth Congressional district for three consecutive years and it is hoped this will be the fourth year.

This trophy is judged on the following five points: fulfilling quota, having highest percentage of posts sponsoring boys; sponsoring largest number of boys compared to percentage of district membership; greatest number of outside organizations sponsoring boys; and greatest percentage of auxiliary units other than boys.

Take Pictures of Trip

This year colored motion pictures of the whole trip will be taken. They will later be shown at American Legion Post, schools, and the various organizations which sponsor boys throughout the district. The colored pictures will be available to any organization desiring to show them.

Richard Dewey of Charles Edwards Post No. 14, American Legion, is serving as general chairman of the Legion committee again this year.

Monday blues disappear when there's an automatic electric laundry in the home. This young housewife shows how clothes and linens are cleaned, washed and gently washed in the new 1947 wringer washer.

The "Unfrustrator" action of this washer forces water through the clothes in three pure washing zones, and the new improved wringer speeds up performance and adds to the streamlined appearance.

was that what would be his share of the previously constructed Eton road sewer be assessed against the various properties after the district was annexed, rather than require him to make the payment now.

The commission explained to him that the city charter also prohibits this.

Provisions in Contract

Husack will incorporate the following provisions in the agreement that will be given Graef to sign:

1. Graef will be permitted to tap into the water line for a period not to exceed three years, at which time if an annexation has not taken place, the city can shut off the water.
2. Immediate steps will be taken to construct the Eton road sewer north to Derby road. (Graef proposes to install septic tanks temporarily until more of the area is under development.)
3. All improvements will be in accordance with city standards, Graef to stand the entire costs.
4. Graef to stand his proper share of the previously constructed Eton sewer.

Pierce to Be Fenced

A seven-foot, heavy wire fence will go up around the Pierce baseball field in the next few weeks, in accordance with approval given by Board of Education members at their Tuesday night meeting. The complete fence is estimated to cost $2,500.
