

Local Cancer Drive Reaches Half-Way Mark

Nearing the end of its third week in Birmingham, the drive staged by the Birmingham chapter of the American Cancer Society has been reported as past the half-way mark in its campaign quota.

Girls from the Teen Canteen, under the direction of Amy Wild, Community House recreational director, staged collections for the Cancer Society in the local movie houses, while appeals for funds for the drive, were flashed on the screen.

Cancer Tag Day, held last Saturday, was carried on not only through workers of the Birmingham branch of the Cancer Society, but with the cooperation of girls from the young people's group of the Embury Methodist Church and members of the Teen Canteen.

Funds from direct house-to-house canvassers are collected rapidly, Mrs. Walter E. Powers, chairman of the local campaign, stated today.

"These funds will be used partially by the Southeastern District Cancer Society and some of them will go to national research. It is the aim of the Southeastern district to establish more detection centers for discovering cancer in its early stages and thus helping prevent deaths by the disease.

As evidence of the value of these centers, she pointed out that year after year at present detection centers, suspicious lesions were found in 200 cases.

The centers presently established are swamped with requests for physical examinations, she stated, and the only way to give this service to the many wanting it is to have more centers.

Will Attend State Nurses' Convention
Mrs. Anyce Glette, Birmingham city nurse will attend the annual Nurses' Convention to be held May 6, 9 and 10 in the Book-Cadillac Hotel when discussion groups on all phases of nursing will be carried on by representatives from all over the State.

Of particular interest to her, Mrs. Glette said, will be several discussions of the latest methods and improvements in community nursing and those used by the modern municipal health nurse.

Detroit Bishop Will Administer Apostolic Rites

The Right Reverend Richard S. Emrich, Ph.D., Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan, will preach and administer the apostolic rite of confirmation at the 11 a.m. service to be held Sunday, May 4, at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Bishop Emrich will also be the preacher at the service for the Kingwood and Cranbrook students at 9:30 a.m. the same day.

Born in 1916, of missionary parents in Madis, Turkey, Bishop Emrich studied in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and was graduated from Brown University in 1932. Following his graduation, he studied for a year at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, and two years at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City, graduating in 1935 with the degree of bachelor of divinity, and receiving a fellowship to Marburg, Germany. He spent a year there and received his doctor of philosophy degree in 1937.

On returning to this country, Bishop Emrich was curate at St. John's Church in Waterbury, Conn., for a year, then went to Episcopal Theological School where he was faculty member for eight years. He is the author of two books entitled "Earth Might Be God's Fair," the Presiding Bishop's Book for Lent, 1945, and "The Conception of the Church in the Writings of the German-English philosopher, Baron Frederick von Hugel."

He was elected Suffragan Bishop of Michigan in 1946 and has been in the Diocese for eight months. He is in charge of the Missionary work of the Diocese, and publicity.

Bishop and Mrs. Emrich and their two children live in Ann Arbor, and the Bishop's office in Detroit.

Obituary

Mrs. Irving Smith
Mrs. Irving Smith of Holly passed away Tuesday, April 22, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Throop of Grand Blanc.

Mrs. Smith, the former Jessamine June Bowers, was born in Clawson June 15, 1888, and graduated from Birmingham High School. In April, 1909 she married Irving Smith in Clawson.

Mrs. Smith was a member of Holy Methodist Church, the Glee Club, Chapter Number 169, Order of the Eastern Star and the Blue Star Workers.

Survivors are her husband, Irving, a daughter, Mrs. Vera Throop of Grand Blanc, two sons, Raymond and Russell, who are both of Detroit, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in Holly Friday at 2:30 p. m. with burial in that city.

Agnes E. Erickson
Agnes E. Erickson, 464 Townsend, died Thursday, April 24, following a long illness.

She was born in Oakland, Neb. April 19, 1873, and married John E. Erickson, who died in 1941. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Pontiac, and has lived in Birmingham since 1929 when she came here from Chicago.

Surviving are two sons, Roland E. of Birmingham and Leonard E. of New Jersey. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Palmquist of Minneapolis and Mrs. Gus F. Johnson of Oakland, and three brothers, Leonard and Edward of Oakland, and Alden of Detroit.

Funeral services were held Monday at 1 p. m. from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home with burial at White Chapel. The Rev. Melvina Crump of the First Baptist Church officiated.

Will Conduct New Class in Ceramics

Mrs. Dorothy Kragg, 1348 Edgewood, announced this week that she will begin conducting classes in ceramics for children between the ages of six and 12 years; classes to open next Monday.

Working in ceramics, she believes, will give the children a creative interest in accomplishing things with their hands.

Mrs. Kragg studied ceramics at Wayne University and also in Lansing under a private sculptor. A graduate of Michigan State College, she taught physical education in the Royal Oak Schools for two years.

Strictly Fresh

THE CIO Brewery Workers and AFL Teamsters are warring over who gets to haul beer. They don't have no truck with each other.

Government officials declare candidly that the reason we've got to lend Greece a pile of money is simply to keep Russia out. Well, at least it's taxation without misrepresentation.

Hungary's hangmen went on strike because the government banned public executions. They'll be hanged if they'll work without an audience!

Stalin has approved skyscrapers for Moscow, possibly indicating he realizes you can go only so far in one direction.

'Mother of 1947'

Mrs. Frederick G. Murray, 72, mother of five and grandmother of 10, is the Golden Rule Foundation's "American Mother of 1947." She is shown cooking at her home in Cedar Rapids, Ia., where her husband is a doctor.
