Week Marked by Ruth M. Place Lecture Monday

Two hundred members and friends of the Birmingham Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association were given an exhilarating "spring tonic" in the form of an interesting program at the Community House on Monday.

There was an outstanding event of the Birmingham Garden Week, illustrated and sponsored by that organization.

The president, Mrs. Lewis Clark Dibble, urged the members to consider that what people think, talk and do about gardening is reflected in the lives of the coming generation, their neighborhood and the community as a whole. She suggested as a possible future slogan for this annual event a title from one of the school posters—"Make the Flowering Crab a Birmingham Fad."

Present Prizes
 Mrs. Henry W. Thiede, chairman of Garden Week and her committee, Mrs. E. Gebrie, Mrs. Karl Lutz, Mrs. C. V. Crockett, Mrs. Seth Slawson, presented prizes of flowering crab apple trees to Bruce Castille from Adams School, Jo Ann Shooka from Holy Name, William Falberg from Pierce, Lee Bargar and Sally Howard from Baldwin. Their prize winning posters were displayed with others on the walls of the club room. These will be on display in local stores during the week.

Mrs. Crockett, on behalf of the Garden Club, presented five books on gardening which were received by Mrs. John Lambie on behalf of the Baldwin Public Library.

These included "Flower Postcards" donated by Mrs. Lewis Dibble, "Flower Arrangements in Color" donated by Mrs. William McCallum, "Perennial Preferred," "Ten Thousand Garden Questions Answered" and "Practical Encyclopedia on Gardening" donated by the club in memory of Mrs. Royce L. Beers, Mrs. Paul Stalker and Mr. Henry Ford.

Mrs. Seth Slawson, presented prizes of gift certificates to members who had provided the library with gifts of myrtle for Spring planting.

Announce Final Plans

Mrs. Frank D. Webb, chairman of the home gardening group, announced the final plans for the bulb and wild flower gardens to be visited today. Starting from the Community House at one o'clock, the members will visit the gardens of Mrs. W. D. Thompson, Mrs. E. W. Seasholtz, Mrs. Marc Patten, Mrs. F. H. McKinney, Mrs. Robert Grindley, and Mrs. G. N. Sieger.

Announcement has been made that three residential streets, Wellesley, Barry and Astington in Beverly Hills, have been newly planted to flowering crab apple trees. Birmingham residents have purchased more than 150 of these trees during the past week and orders are still coming in, it was reported.

Hear Ruth M. Place
 The guest speaker, Mrs. Ruth Mother Place, garden editor of "The Detroit News," talked on "Gardening as a Community Asset." Opening with a short history of how gardening first came to America, she gave an interesting account of features especially characteristic of present day gardening in this country.

Stressing the cultural, social and health advantages of community gardening, she paid particular tribute to the program the Birmingham Club has undertaken in sponsoring "Garden Week."

Tea-time gave members the opportunity to discuss the plans for the week and enjoy the unusual tea table arranged by Mrs. H. G. Wood. A large, low silver bowl of peach-colored geraniums was a striking contrast to the abundant silver leafed calceolarias and geraniums.

Flanked by tall floor bouquets of forsythia and rhododendron, the speaker's table held an arrangement of mahonia, forsythia, and tulips in a large Chinese brass bowl.

In Charge of Tea
 Mrs. H. D. Wise was in charge of the tea with Mrs. H. G. Wood as co-chairman. Assisting them were Mrs. Clark G. Coulter, Mrs. W. E. Moody, Mrs. L. I. Woolson, Mrs. Bronson Grant, Mrs. Everett Wells, Mrs. T. W. Wideman, Mrs. Harold J. Wilkinson, Mrs. George L. Goodwin and Mrs. Arthur Wrasby.

Pouring at intervals were Mrs. S. F. Baker, Mrs. Robert M. Ball, Mrs. Alvin H. Knorr and Mrs. Mark Kraus.

That elusive thing called Taste...

One cannot quite define it, but you see it in the patina of precious old silver, the lustre of fine porcelain. You feel it in the recollection of a charming fashion, an exquisite perfume. And these things bring lasting pleasure.

For more than two decades LaBelles have sought out treasures of taste—the good, the lasting, from the world's markets. These treasures have brought genuine satisfaction to many.

And because our own satisfaction comes from this contribution to your community we will continue to bring things of enduring pleasure to you, and to your home; things which bring that elusive thing called Taste, good Taste, into your manner of living.
