

Ruth Shain Class to Have Final Meeting

A preliminary discussion preceding Dr. James Pollock's talk, which will be given at the annual reunion of the Ruth Shain Class in International Relations, will be the topic of the final meeting of the class, which will be held at the Community House Tuesday, May 13, at 10 a. m. The classes are ending on this date due to the fact that the annual breakfast will be given May 22.

A general discussion covering the subjects, "Why Are We Occupying Germany and Japan?—Why Don't We Leave as We Did at the End of World War I?" and "What are our objectives in staying in the occupied countries?" will be held.

Rich Loam Brown is Versatile

TAKE a sweet day in Springs a dress of any color of the rainbow, add a smart Stetson straw fashioned in Loam Brown, and there you have the best dressed woman of the season! There's nothing so crisp as a broad-brimmed straw in a flexible herringbone weave to carry you through the late Spring days and tie into the long and lazy summer. This is the new Spring style they're talking about... smart, but with just the right touch of restraint so that it can be worn here and again with different costumes and take on a new personality with each daily change of wardrobe. Loam Brown promises to have and to hold the fashion focus.

Wide Program is Planned This Summer at Cranbrook

Dates for the 1947 Cranbrook Summer Institute, offering a program of instruction and recreation for the entire family, are announced as from June 23 through August 1.

Morning programs are scheduled for children and morning and evening classes for adults. Also included, instructors and supervisors, with few exceptions, will be former members of the Cranbrook Schools.

Miss Grace A. Fry of Kingswood School and William Schultz, Jr. of Cranbrook School are the administrative co-directors and the Cranbrook Summer School of the Theatre will again be under the direction of Carl G. Wonnberger.

Water Activities
Children in the 6-9 age group are eligible for the Summer Play School, which includes swimming instruction. For older children classes are offered in arts and crafts, tennis, ceramics, drawing and painting, weaving, typewriting and an introduction to lapidary techniques.
Certified Red Cross swimming instructors will be in charge of water activities which are offered the children's groups. Outdoor pools below the Jonah Fountain at the Cranbrook Academy of Art will be used by swimming groups and facilities of Cranbrook Kingswood School or the Institute of Science will be made available.
