16 Former Baldwin Students Suggest Certain Changes

By Tom Mills.

Ross A. Wagner, Baldwin principal, Larned Goodrich, boys' counselor, and Mrs. Carol Darling, girls' counselor, met last Thursday for a conference with 16 graduates of the high school, now freshmen at the University of Michigan, to learn how they were getting along in the University.

All the their criticisms at the university and are doing very well, judging from their first marks. There were no failures and the average grade was C plus to B.

All were willing to make suggestions to the representatives to better the course of study.

Interviewed were Ernest Anderson, Lloyd Appell, Robert Brumgraber, George Campbell, Donald Coviter, Joseph Hardig, Knight Goodrich, William Kindly, Edward Laird, Jeanne Lang, Robert Morrow, Charles Murray, Hugh Quinn, Ellen Van Wagoner, Edward Worthen, and Jack Zinner.

After the get-together with the students, the representatives met with faculty advisers from 130 high schools and some junior college administrators for a luncheon.

President Alexander Ruthven gave a welcoming address after which Professor Harley Bartlett spoke on "The Postwar Status of Higher Education in the Philippines." Having spent much time studying the Philippine educational system, Professor Bartlett was well prepared to give an interesting and informative talk.

The Birmingham delegates returned proud of their former students and with some ideas for changes in the present program.

Pencil Sellers Win Tickets as Prizes

Newest device of the Baldwin assembly club for raising revenue was initiated last week in the form of a pencil sale contest with prizes to students selling the greatest number of pencils.

The contest, running for four weeks, is headed by Mary Ann Wilkinson. Last week students sold a total of 1325 pencils with a minimum sale of 100 pencils required. The largest sale, 516 pencils, won two tickets on the 50-yard line for the annual Turkey Day game for Tom Seaholm.

Second prize of one ticket to the Pigskin Prom was won by Dick Kelly, with 252 pencils sold. Close behind were Gladys Zinner, Bob Burgoyne and Barbara Braidwood, all selling more than 100 pencils.

Any student not winning last week may include his sales with those for this week. The minimum number of pencils to be sold was raised to 200 and the winner will receive tickets to the Lions Club feather party and ten chances to win a tasty turkey.

New President of Baldwin Band Is Harris Jackson

Holding the annual election for the 1947-48 band year, the Baldwin band chose Harris Jackson, president; Lee Hanson, vice-president; Shirley Green, secretary; and Philip Allen, treasurer.

Annual Yearbook Plans Under Way

Preparations for an outstanding yearbook got under way at Baldwin high school last week when the editorial staff began making plans, taking pictures, and discussing costs for the 1948 Piper.

The theme of the book is team-work, illustrating the cooperation shown by townspeople, students, faculty and administration to make a good school. Various views of buildings making up the school campus and featuring Baldwin traditions will be used.

Though costs of materials have gone up the price of the Piper will not be raised unless it is unavoidable to do so, probably remaining at $1.50 for the book, which will be the size of last year's at 120 pages.

Other publication heads are Dick Stoll, ad manager; Janet Fishack and Anne Lundberg, sales managers; Joanne Lacomber, chief clerk. Sports editor will be appointed soon.

Demonstrating teamwork are many students anxious to serve on the book. Some of them are Jim Ensign, Ruth Oldburg, Barb Hughes, John Chantler, Nancy Fisher, Betty Drake and Tom Mills.
