now in operation at Maple and Telegraph and Long Lake and Telegraph now enable cars crossing US-24 to do so without its occupants risking life and limb, report motorists who have used the intersections. It is interesting to note, however, that within 24 hours after the Telegraph-Long Lake light went into operation, there was an accident at the corner as a southbound driver, unaware that the light had been placed there, clipped a westbound car. This Wanderer believes it would be good practice for all State and municipal agencies to place a sign reading, "Newly Installed Traffic Signal Now Operating 500 Feet Ahead" and leave it there for four or six weeks till motorists become familiar with the new situation.

Last Friday evening's 13th annual City Halloween Party and parade went off as smoothly as it has in previous years, in the estimation of this Wanderer. Everyone seemed satisfied with the results, although we have several suggestions for next year's committee: Why not some sort of token prize for all the participants in the parade? (Several youngsters were seen to take it hard after they didn't receive any parade prize, and several clever costumes seemed to warrant them. This undoubtedly was due to the almost impossible job of judging so many youngsters to short a time. This matter, too, we believe, should be eliminated in future parades. When one was more than 100 feet from the sound car, it was practically impossible to hear that was being said. Perhaps school officials would permit loud speakers to be mounted at Baldwin's second floor windows so that the announcements would carry to the entire assemblage.)

In connection with the recent City Halloween Party, Henry Woolfenden of Kensington road, suggested to this Wanderer that in subsequent parties, the merchants might donate their store windows to the school children who would be given prizes for the best decorated window glass. Last year Woolfenden remarked that the happened to be driving through a town in Virginia around Halloween time and he and his wife stopped and spent considerable time looking at the scenes painted on merchants' windows with water colors.

In World War II the aircraft industry had the lowest profit rate of any war producer. Its average rate of profit from 1942-1945 was less than two cents on the dollar.
