Quarton Glee Club Seeks New Members

Mrs. H. S. Schmidt entertained mothers of the sixth grade pupils of Quarton school at a 3 o'clock tea yesterday. Mrs. Alice McHugh, teacher and teacher vice-president of Quarton PTA was also present. Mrs. B. Boulton assisted Mrs. Schmidt.
 The dessert luncheon which Mrs. R. Andraea had scheduled has been postponed until Tuesday, Oct. 28. She will entertain the mothers of the kindergarten room at 1:30 at Sunday at the Holy Name church.
 Plans are still going forward for the formation of an adult glee club for members of the Quarton school faculty and PTA. The first rehearsal was held last Monday evening at 7:30, and while the attendance was small, a great deal of interest was shown. Mrs. Franklin Howell is in charge of the organization drive, while W. H. Hohmeyer, is directing the group.
 Rehearsals will be held each Monday evening, and it is hoped that, before the end of the school year, membership will be large enough that a concert can be arranged.

Attending Forum

Mrs. Charles Shain, representing the American Association of University Women, and Mrs. F. G. Garrison of the League of Women Voters, left Sunday for New York, where they attended the New York Herald-Tribune Forum.

Stanger-Parsons Wedding Oct. 11 in Royal Oak

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Ann Parsons to Norman John Stanger took place Saturday afternoon, Oct. 11, in the first Presbyterian church in Royal Oak. The Rev. Robert S. Steen officiated.
 The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Parsons of Royal Oak, was gowned in ivory satin, which was made with a bustle back, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and a long train. Her fingertip veil hung from a hand of seed pearls, and she carried a crescent bouquet of white roses, white baby chrysanthemums and an orchid.
 She was attended by her sister, Miss Patricia Parsons, as maid of honor. She wore a gown of rose moire taffeta with matching mits, and carried a bouquet of the same color in which she wore a crown of her hair. Her crescent bouquet was of wine colored mums.
 The bridesmaids, the Misses Jean Jacobs and Dorothy Nixon and Mrs. Charles Follis, all of Birmingham, were dressed alike in gowns of hyacinth blue. They carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.
 The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stanger of Birmingham, had his best man, Curnell Stanger, as his best man. The guests were seated by Charles Follis, William Main, Lawrence Britain and Alton McCrea.
 A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Parsons chose a gown of fuchsia crepe with matching accessories, and wore an orchid. The groom's mother was gowned in aqua crepe with matching accessories, and also wore an orchid.
 The couple left on a wedding trip through northern Michigan and Wisconsin, for which the bride selected a brown gabardine suit with a matching coat and hat. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Royal Oak.

St. Dunstan's Is Scene Of Walker-White Rites

A double rite ceremony united Elizabeth L. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. White, and Alexander Marriott Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall S. Walker of Montclair, N. J., Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was performed in St. Dunstan's Chapel of Christ Church Canbrook by the Rev. Charles H. Coady.
 The bride's gown was of sheer white lace fashioned with a tight bodice, long sleeves and a circular skirt which ended in a short train. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and stephanotis.
 Her only attendant, Miss Marion Montgomery, of Chicago, wore a gown of emerald green faille, styled with a tight bodice, long sleeves and a full circular skirt.
 Out-of-town guests included the groom's parents and brother, Charles D. Walker, organist at St. Thomas church in New York, who played during the ceremony.
