needs. Each day copies of all the Associated and United Press pictures, and others of that type, are sent to "Mr. X" for filing in their reference library. It is difficult to mention a situation or place that is not filled photographically in their huge system. When history demands a certain accurate and detailed picture, staff members visit museums and borrow from them.

In speaking of the various types of pictures handled, and the sources from which they are acquired, Miss Rounds said, "The amateur gets a lot of his material from the 'Photo-of-the-Week' section. Most of these come to us from unknown sources who, present excellent work. They are in places where we have no staff member, and can't help but see things which would never be known to us, yet are very interesting to the public."

"At times we will receive several related prints from an amateur, around which script work can be built. If their quality is good enough, we buy them."

"Ordinarily, the script is written first, then a conference is held between the script department and the picture research. We may have whatever is needed in our files. If we do not, a photograph is sent to the scene, and takes pictures until he feels he has enough to fill the assignment. Each week we check hundreds and hundreds of pictures, while the issue may carry only 10 when it reaches the presses."

Throughout the East and Middle West, according to Miss Rounds, most assignments are covered from the New York office. On the West coast and in the Southwest, they have key photographers in most big cities. These men and women are called to the magazine at all times to handle any special work. They also have lists of capable picture men in all cities so they may be sure of being adequately staffed in the event a big story breaks suddenly, and because of time must be covered immediately.

The topics on file, Miss Rounds confessed, run the scale from breath-taking beauty to the unbelievable horrors of death, accidents, and sudden violent death. While not with the staff during the war years, she is, nevertheless, familiar with the pictured history of horror strikes; humanly she is also familiar with some of the world's most beautiful things and places.

"There is never any chance of boredom," she smiled. "Every day means pictures, but every day opens up a new world, full of new things. It's quite like reporting in that respect. We never see the same thing often enough to become tired of it, and when we report our department in the morning, the day stands ahead of us, just one huge question mark as to what it will bring to us before we knock off for the day at quitting time."

Miss Rounds, who has been spending the past two weeks with her parents, returned to her home in Birmingham last Sunday.

Girl Scouts Plan Homecoming Event

Annual Homecoming Day for all adult leaders of Girl Scouts in Birmingham will be held Friday, Sept. 19, at the Community House, starting at 10 a. m.

Mrs. R. W. Reilly, chairman of the Birmingham Girl Scout Council, states that the Board of Directors, troop leaders, assistant leaders, group committee members and consultants will all be in attendance, and she further invites any and all women in Birmingham who are interested in Scouting to join the group and assist in plans for the coming season.

Mrs. Cassius Miller, chairman of Homecoming Day, announces a program full of inspiration, ideas, and assistance for all those attending this day-long meeting, which opens at 10 a. m. with the business meeting. Lunch will be served at noon and the afternoon will be spent in group meetings.

The committee hopes many new adults anxious to contribute leadership to the Girl Scout organization will come and join the ranks of Scouting on Homecoming Day.

Miss Rogerson Has Part in Hampton's Play, "Stage Door"

Miss Gertrude Rogerson of Pierce street, will play the part of "Mrs. Orecut" in the Robert F. Hampton production of "Stage Door," to be given at the Detroit

GERTRUDE ROGERSON

Institute of Arts on Sept. 26 and 27.

Miss Rogerson was born in Toronto, but received her education here, being a graduate of Baldwin High School. She was later graduated from the Detroit Business University. She became interested in dramatics at an early age, and has participated in many stage productions for local club and church organizations.

The benefit show, presented for the British War Relief Society, was organized by Miss Rogerson, and she helped with its production. It was presented, most successfully, by the Village Players in Birmingham.

For three years she has appeared with the Detroit Civic Players, and during the past summer was with a professional stage company in East Texas.

Local Man Is Made Pontiac Sales Head

L. W. Ward, general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors, has announced the appointment of Norman E. Perry, 381 N. Woodward, Birmingham, as assistant general sales manager in charge of the Western United States. He succeeded E. W. Norman who has resigned.

"Mr. Perry has spent his entire business career with Pontiac in a variety of positions and his experience will be of extreme benefit to Pontiac in his new position," Mr. Ward said. He will be directly responsible for the administration of all Pontiac sales activities from Chicago to the West Coast and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico.

Mr. Perry, a native of Dedham, Mass., joined the Oakland Motor Car Company in 1927 as a district manager at Boston. He remained in the Boston zone in various executive capacities until March, 1937, when he was made Zone Manager at Pittsburgh.

In August, 1939, he headed the Cincinnati zone and in May, 1946, came to the home office as Pontiac Zone Manager.

Anne Willson Scores Tennis Grand Slam
Anne Willson made a clean sweep of the Birmingham Tennis Club's closed tournament by winning all four titles in the women's and girls' divisions.

Miss Willson came from behind to conquer Katherine Smith 1-6, 6-0, 6-2, in the women's singles division final. In the final of the girls division she defeated Dolly Milbrandt by the scores of 6-0, 6-1. To take that title, previously Miss Willson and Ralph Dunbar had taken the mixed doubles crown and Miss Willson and Katherine Smith had won the women's doubles championship.

Wayne Smith defeated Edward Dingler 6-1, 4-6, 6-1 to win a place in the men's singles final, against Leon Bracey.

Due to players leaving for college, two final matches were won by means of forfeit. Ralph Dunbar took the junior title from Dick Adams by forfeit. Edward Dingler and Charles Grandell defeated Leon Bracey and Ralph Dunbar by means of a forfeit, for the men's doubles championship.

Women Voters to be Hosts to State-Wide Conclave Next Week

The Birmingham League of Women Voters will be hosts to a state-wide conference on International Trade September 23 and 24, at the home of the League president, Mrs. F. G. Garrison on West Maple road.

Forty-four Michigan Leagues will send their International Affairs Chairmen, assistants, and publicity chairmen to the meeting to study the new International Trade Charter set up by the League Conference this past summer, and on our country's reciprocal trade agreements and extension which must come before Congress not later than June 1948.

Since there are some nine hundred business firms in Michigan doing an export-import business, this conference is of special interest to Michigan Leagues. The theme of the conference will be "Michigan Leagues," with special emphasis on those most valuable for helping people understand what is at stake in the Reciprocal Trade Agreements.

Mrs. Phillip H. Pretz, State International Affairs chairman, will preside at the meeting Tuesday morning. Mrs. Charles Shain is scheduled to report Tuesday engineer—whose name was Harold Corson, a name mighty familiar to Birminghamers, I should say. This is the story, as Foley told it, as nearly as I can recall the details.

Because of the great popularity of Hal Waldo and the general interest Birmingham residents have in his letters, we are pleased to have them in the columns of The Eccentric. However, because of the length of the letter this week, we are forced to hold a part of it for publication in the next issue.—Ed.

afternoon on the International Trade Roundtable of the International Federation of University Women Triennial, which she attended at Toronto last month.

Mrs. Allan G. Looftbourrow is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Peter B. Loomis will act as time-keeper. The Birmingham delegates will be Mrs. R. F. Giffels, Mrs. R. F. Giffels.

The dinner meeting Tuesday evening, 6:15, at Devon Gables will be open to all league members. Negotiations are underway for a speaker of unusual ability. Eighty reservations have already been made and others are welcome. Reservations should be made by September 20, with Mrs. Allan Looftbourrow.
