Ann Ballentine's Troth Told at Easter Cocktail Party

Mr. and Mrs. David Raymond Ballentine entertained at a pre-Easter cocktail party followed by a buffet dinner for relatives and friends Saturday afternoon by way of announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Elizabeth Anne, to Perry Roberts Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude G. Williams of Garden City, L. I.

The surprise was revealed when Perry's sister, Gwen Williams, and Mary Rose, the bride elect's cousin, passed baskets containing little red and white scrolls bearing the first few bars of the Lutheran Wedding March with the names of Anne and Perry under the notes.

The red and white color theme was carried out in Anne's linen dress which was fashioned with a red skirt and white top, the deep ruffled collar accented with applied lace. Lace also trimmed the short sleeves and rhinestone buttons completed the costume.

Anne was a graduate of Kingswood school, making her debut in September, 1946. She is now a senior at Smith College.

Perry was graduated from The Central school of St. Paul, Garden City, L. I., and from Amherst where he was a member of the Scabab Club and Phi-Kappa Pal. After three years in the Naval Reserve, he was released from active duty in the Pacific Theatre as a Lieutenant (j.g.). At present he is attending the school of music at Yale University.

Out of town guests of the Ballentines' were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Godfrey Williams, parents of the bridegroom who arrived with their son on Friday; Anne's roommates at Smith, Adelaide Pass, of Syracuse, N. Y., and another classmate, Jeffrey Bartlett, of Lewistown, N. Y.

David Arthur Ballentine, brother of the bride, arrived from Dartmouth just in time for the party. The wedding is planned for early Fall.
