To Preach Here Thingstad to Sing in May 4 Concert

Soloists for the May 4 performance of Bach's St. Matthew Passion including one man from Birmingham were announced today by Arthur Gnaus, who will direct the Detroit Oratorio Society and orchestra for the performance at Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Syver Thingstad of Birmingham will be teamed with Detroiters Avery Crew, tenor, Rose Suzanne for Dorian, soprano and Julia Sturges, contralto, Andrew White, baritone, is on the faculty of the school of music, University of Michigan.

"We are very fortunate to have such fine voices in this area," Gnaus said, "because it is not possible to prepare such a demanding work without many rehearsals. In order to keep the dramatic integrity, it is necessary to work intensively with soloists, chorus and orchestra."

"This will be the first local performance in 17 years of this Bach master-piece as it was written for chorus, orchestra and soloists," Gnaus stated. "In 1931 Gabriel Witach presented the Passion in Detroit, scoring such a success that he took it to New York where it was acclaimed by public and critics alike."

The Rev. Gordon Matthews, executive secretary of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, will visit St. James church on Sunday, April 25 and will conduct services at 8:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. that day, preaching the sermon at the second service.

Mr. Matthews comes as representative of the Diocese of Michigan, holding one of the most responsible positions in the Diocesan organization. As executive secretary, he has the responsibility for seeing that the programs of work authorized by the annual convention of the Diocese are carried out within the budgets provided for them.

He also has an important part in the administration of the Diocese. He acts as secretary of the various Departments, and many of the smaller subsidiary groups, and endeavors to see that the work is done with as little overlapping as possible. He is also responsible for carrying out the details of the financial program of the Diocese, his office handling the collection and disbursement of moneys.
