Annual "Recognition Night" of the Birmingham YMCA will be held Friday evening, April 16, at the Community House. It was announced this week by Edwin F. Kibbert, executive secretary.

Street Improvement

Property owners on South Bates street have petitioned the city for hard surfacing of the street between 14 Mile and mid-way between Northlawn and Southlawn. The matter was referred to the city manager for a preliminary report which would include an estimate of the cost of the project.

Meeting

(Continued from Page One) tudy a poor law from the standpoint of ideal government, the plight of the schools before its passage was such that only desperate measures could remedy their needs; that the sales tax convention has demonstrated that it has crystallized the state's fiscal problems, its need for an overhauling of the state constitution and system of taxation focused citizen attention on this end.

State PTA Convention
Acceptance of Bloomfield Village, Franklin and Walnut Lake PTA into the Birmingham Council was officially voted.

The state PTA convention will be held April 29, 29, 30 in Bay City. Reservations of delegates must be made at the Winston Hotel by April 19. The Council voted that Birmingham delegates cooperate with Royal Oak PTA Council in chartering a bus to the convention. Round trip fare, according to Mr. Connor, would amount to three dollars.

Three W. Maple Elms Have to Come Down

Three large elm trees on Maple, between Bates and Henrietta, were removed this week due to the sewer construction under way at that point.

John Johannot, city forester, explained that tumbling operations under the trees were unnecessary, necessitating the tree removals.

Traces Development of Rubber Industry

H. L. Kohlmeier, 744 Hazelwood, traced the drama of development of both the natural and synthetic rubber industries for local Rotarians May day here.

A purchasing department executive for the Ford Motor Co., Kohlmeier pointed out that the first synthetic rubber was produced in England in 1860 but was not developed commercially until the second World War.

Rudolph Lindquist, Former Cranbrook Headmaster, Dead

It was reported to The Eccentric this week that Dr. Rudolph Lindquist, former headmaster at Cranbrook Boys School, was instantly killed in a head-on automobile crash April 6 between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, Calif.

Dr. Lindquist was superintendent of Santa Barbara schools at the time of his death.

Birmingham's Community House Has Long Tradition of Social, Welfare Service

(In this article, the story is written by Mrs. H. B. White, the community house director.)

By Hazel B. White
Board of Directors

A loan cupboard of sickroom supplies is one of the Community House services that has been operating quietly for many years.

From the cupboard come hospital gowns, sheets and pillow cases and other special equipment. Also available usually in use are a couple of hospital beds. Several wheel chairs have been donated to the House for purposes and the supply of crutches, acquired the same way, provides many uses and styles.

This equipment has served many a family well in an emergency. But usually it is not often called for, is inulin which can be purchased for the needy from a fund set up for the Community House by the Needlework Guild.

The House has a long tradition of welfare activity, although now most of the cases called to its attention can be referred to tax supported welfare or social service agencies. Once the Community House maintained visiting nurses, but now that work is done by the Visiting Nurses Association whose representatives check regularly with the Community House.

Social Service Awards
A comparatively recent social service available at the Community House is advice on problems of family relations. A social psychiatrist worker from the Family Service Center in Pontiac is at the Community on Wednesday afternoons.

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of community good-will centered in the Community House is the welfare work of the Family Service Center. She always manages to find just the family and keeps a little black book full of notes about things available, things needed, and what was done about them.

Spirit of Service
She also speeds many a box or basket of delicacies and holiday food from one family to another.

This outpouring of cheer neighbors begin years ago when the Community House was founded, and it has never stopped. In the same spirit funds have long been provided by the Good-fellows for family emergencies. Sometimes, when other agents fall through, Mr. Goodfellow's function is to step in, as happened and the Community House.

These good deeds are individual expressions of generosity in which the Community House is merely the spirit of service and good will which people associate with the Community House.
