KEEPING HOUSE

Sound Fishy? You'll be pleasantly surprised when you see the new series of book matches which will describe, by word and picture, twenty of America's most famous fish. Educational! Yes! Even mother will be keenly interested in them because each will carry a detailed recipe for cooking the species discussed.

Keep Them Cool: The United States Department of Agriculture advises that you store home canned foods where it's cool, dark and dry. Keep milk clean, covered, and cold. No matter how carefully milk is handled before it reaches the home it will not keep well if it is then carelessly treated.

"New Look" Again: Don't be shocked if your favorite supermarket dons the "New Look," too. The latest trend in self service stores is to use one deep slanted shelf on which can be arranged single or double rows of canned goods, packages, etc. As you select a can from the front of the counter, those behind it slide down on the shelf to replace it. Such merchandising saves considerable space and naturally saves you extra walking.

Recipe of the Week
This easy-to-make dessert looks as simple as it sounds and tastes even better.

COCONUT VELVET CREAM
1 package orange gelatin
1 cup hot pineapple juice
1 cup milk
3/4 cup heavy cream

1/2 cup shredded coconut, cut again into slightly thickened. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot pineapple juice. Chill until cold and syrupy. Add the milk and chill again until slightly thickened. Fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny, but not stiff. Fold in the coconut, and turn into individual molds—or large mold. Chill until firm, remove from mold and garnish with pineapple wedges. Serves 8.

Canned Cream Sauce: There are actually very few women who can make a good cream sauce and there are even fewer who can make it consistently good. With this problem in mind, a leading grocery manufacturer has developed a canned cream sauce and is just about ready to put it on the market.

New Gadgets: A new idea in trays is the kind that has folding legs and handy fasteners for attaching them to car windows, baby cribs, and other convenient places. Clogged up salt shakers, soggy crackers or cereals, and sticky hard candies will all become memories if you use the dainty new plastic containers of moisture-absorbing blue crystals which are now available. Put the containers over the top of the salt shakers or into cracker boxes to eliminate moisture. The crystals will turn pink when they absorb moisture, can be dried out again in the oven.

Are Married in Fort Thomas, Ky.

In Fort Thomas, Ky., last Thursday, Miss Sara Marjorie Morledge became the bride of John J. Hamei. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elibu Ross Morledge of Fort Thomas and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hamei, Jr., of Wellesley drive.

For the ceremony which took place at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, the bride wore an instep-length gown of chantilly lace over ivory satin with a tight bodice, a low, round neckline and puffed sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was held by a wreath of satin flowers. Her bridal bouquet was made up of white camellias.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. John McClellan of Cambridge, Ohio; Mrs. George Schoelkins of Columbus, Ohio; Nell Lewis Morledge, a cousin and Haven Jones, both of Fort Thomas, were dressed in instep-length gowns of aqua, pink blue and yellow pique. Their hats were wide-brimmed and crownless and tied under the chin with satin ribbons.

Richard Cushing of Birmingham served as best man and the ushers were Harold D. Draper of Saginaw; Karl E. Ware of Rocky River, Ohio and Bruce P. Moncrieff.

The reception was held at the Morledge home following the marriage services. The young couple will make their home in Alexandria, Va., upon their return from a wedding trip to Provincetown Inn on Cape Cod.
