

Tells of Job with Internat'l Quaker Service in Paris.

(Special to the Birmingham Eclectic from the Washington Bureau)
By Barbara Tevesch
PARIS, France—Most of the time has been consumed in learning about the International Quaker Service, comments Miss Roxane Lambie, of 280 Aspen Road, Birmingham.
Having been appointed as secretary, file clerk, and general handyman to the Quaker Central European Office here in Paris, Miss Lambie finds the work of relief and reconstruction very absorbing and worth while.
The commissioner's office in which she works is a liaison office between Philadelphia and the field offices in other European countries. The primary concern of this outfit is to establish clothing, food and student feeding centers throughout Europe.

Former Red Cross Aide
Miss Lambie arrived at Le Havre on the Marine Marlin June 24. She plans to stay with her job here for 18 months... the duration of her appointment. She first became interested in overseas work when she was with the Red Cross for two years in the Pacific.
The Quaker organization works, eats and lives in the same building, a very old but clean house on the left bank which once used to be a museum but which has been turned into comfortable offices and living quarters, with a charming courtyard.
There is a general informality that is pleasantly prevalent in the group, Miss Lambie commented. She earns her board and keep and transportation, plus $10 a month for spending money, which she spends on books, movies, and gifts for her friends at home in America.
Has Taken Two Trips
Miss Lambie finds the French cooking very heavy. The food is very good, but lacks the variety of that in America.

During the five weeks she has been here, Miss Lambie has seen a few of the interesting highlights of Paris, among which are the place de la Concorde, the Louvre, and Notre Dame. She especially enjoys walking around the many interesting streets. The rest of her free time she spends reading, writing letters, and going to the movies.
She has taken two short trips outside of Paris. One to Chartres to see the famous stained glass windows, and the other to Le Havre to visit a French school in connection with her job.
The most prominent feature she has noticed about the French people is that they don't look very happy... they look as if their lives are very hard.
SOCIETY NEWS must be in the Eclectic editorial office by five o'clock every Tuesday noon. Deadline for CLUB NEWS remains at noon Mondays.

What does your Grocer Owe You?

We think that there are certain principles a grocer must observe if he expects to have the confidence and patronage of the community in which he operates.

We think also that the millions of housewives, who have to spend such a large part of the family income on food, want to feel that the grocers they patronize live up to these principles. It can make a lot of difference in the quality and the cost of the food.

Here, in brief, are some of the things A&P tries to live up to at all times, and if you ever find us falling short of these principles in any way we'd feel you were doing us a favor if you'd tell us about it. We don't think that honest intentions are enough... we believe we owe you a system that makes them come true.

HONEST WEIGHT

... According to our way of figuring, there are sixteen ounces to the pound with no "ifs," "ands," or "buts." Our scales are in plain sight where you can see the dials, and we have them periodically checked for accuracy. Certain foods are subject to "shrinkage" in weight even after short periods in or on their way to the store. This should be our worry and not yours. When we weigh food up in advance for the convenience of self-service, we know what this shrinkage will be and we add enough to take care of it. A pound of food must weigh sixteen ounces when you get it... not just when we weigh it up.

CORRECT PRICES

... plainly marked. Again we say honest intentions on our part aren't enough. We must also be accurate and we owe it to you to have a system that guards against slips and errors. A&P prices are plainly marked on the goods or on the shelves and cases or both. A&P cashiers are thoroughly trained to check your purchases quickly and accurately and give you a slip or sales ticket with every purchase itemized.

SINCERE ADVERTISING

... You should be able to read your grocer's advertising with full confidence that the merchandise and prices are correctly represented in keeping with the spirit as well as the law of honest merchandising. If you see broccoli or lettuce or cabbage or hamburger or porterhouse steak listed in an A&P ad at such-and-such a price—that means it's the price of A&P's best broccoli or lettuce or cabbage or hamburger or porterhouse steak.

If, in the case of a product that we carry in more than one grade or size, (like eggs, for instance), we advertise the price, we advertise the grade also so you'll know what you're buying and what you should pay. We advertise to inform you—not to fool you into coming into our stores, and you won't go away disappointed.

FRESHNESS CONTROL

... It's not enough for your grocer to buy good food for his store. If you're to get your money's worth he must keep it good until you come for it. That means he must have a sufficient investment in proper refrigeration equipment. His organization must be properly trained to buy properly for quick turnover. His source of supply must be right from the farm or factory to the store. A&P controls the freshness of the food we sell from the source to you, and you can trust A&P to guard its freshness and quality.

EFFICIENT METHODS

... If your grocer's expenses are too high—if his shelves are stocked with food that doesn't sell—if he employs wasteful methods you pay the bill. A&P has about ninety years of experience and organization behind its methods of eliminating unnecessary and burdensome costs. We'll go to any expense to improve our methods, but we think that was a sin. When we save, you save, and that's why your food will cost you less for the best if you do all your shopping in your A&P store.

These are some of the reasons why millions of women say, "I can trust A&P."
