

Selects Sept. 18 for Her Wedding

Miss Lillian Gravin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gravin of Webster street has set Sept. 18 as the date of her marriage to John K. Follis of Catalina drive. He is the son of Mr. L. J. Follis.

The Rev. Arnold Runkel will officiate at the double ring rite in the Methodist Church house.

Miss Gravin has asked Mrs. E. D. Parmenter of Birmingham to act as her matron of honor. Charles Follis of Birmingham is to serve as his brother's best man. The reception will be held at the bride's home.

The average American consumes 187.4 quarts of milk in a year.

Franklin Players to Present Two Plays on Sept. 2 and 3

Young college and high school students out Franklin way have devised a summer pastime by organizing, early in the summer, a summer theatre group.

The first play presented was "The Pot Boilers" late in July. The next attractions will be a comedy double feature, "Thank You Doctor," directed by Mrs. J. Pricker and "The Wonder Hat," which is being directed by Mrs. A. Grig. The plays will be given in the Franklin Community Hall in Franklin Village at 8:15 on Sept. 2 and 3.

Members of the "Thank You Doctor" cast are Bill Jakeman as the doctor; Dave Jakeman as Denby Court; Fran Ritter as Mrs. Norman Lester; Lillian Shark as the nurse and Marge Fisher as the patient.

"The Wonder Hat" presents Tom Roseberry as Harlequin; Edwin Matus as Pierrot; Sally Roseberry as Columbine; Georgia Rhiem as Margo and Bill Hickman as Panchello.

The public is invited to attend and to bring friends to see these young people who have a new interest in the Village.

Expected to arrive home this week from a cruise on the St. Lawrence and a visit in Quebec are MRS. and MRS. JACK ANDREWS of Pleasant street.

Anna Jane Moore is Wed in Lovely Candlelight Ceremony

Before an altar banked with candelabra and baskets of all white gladioli, Miss Anna Jane Moore and Warren Henry Finkbeiner repeated their vows to Elizabeth neckline, long sleeves which came to traditional points over her hands and a fitted bodice fastened with tiny satin buttons down the front. An imported French lace poplin trimmed the dropped waistline and the gathered, bouffant skirt swept into a chapel train. A crown of satin rosettes held the fingertip imported silk veil of illusion which was edged with a roll of satin. The bridal bouquet, tied with satin streamers, was made up of a cascade of white roses. Her only jewelry was a choker of seed pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Ermalu Moore served as her sister's maid of honor in an off-shoulder, mauve moire taffeta ballerina length dress which was cut with a shirred neckline, padded sleeves and a fitted bodice. White ballet slippers and white lace mitta bordered with navy tulle completed her ensemble. She carried a nosegay of marguerite daisies and wore matching flowers in her hair.

The bridesmaids, Miss Sally Lou Read of Grosse Pointe in an ice green moire taffeta and Miss Frances Carpenter in a periwinkle moire taffeta also carried nosegays of marguerite daisies and wore matching flowers in their hair. Their dresses were of identical styles as the honor maid's.

Robert Finkbeiner was his brother's best man and seating the guests were Henry Moore, Jr., a brother of the bride, and Paul Tins of Mayville, Mich.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Moore chose a gull gray street length dress and a gray feathered hat and gray gloves. The wedding was made up of pink roses. Mrs. Finkbeiner wore a dusty rose dress with a gray hat trimmed with matching rose feathers, gray gloves and an orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Miss Nancy Bingham poured for the guests.

As the young couple left for a month's stay in the Muskoka Lake region in Canada, the new Mrs. Finkbeiner was wearing a brown silk shantung suit with a matching shantung cloche hat and gold and brown accessories.

They will make their home in East Lansing where they will complete their studies at Michigan State College this year.

Out of town guests for the event were Mrs. Luther Barker of Elkhart, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Charlotte, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. David Finkbeiner and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Anderson of Sebewaing; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dubson of Springfield, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. John Rupp of Atchison, Kan.

Marian Haglund Exchanges Vows With James Juhl

Trinity Lutheran Church in Clawson, was lighted by candles when Marian Minette Haglund spoke her marriage vows with James Lehard Juhl, Saturday evening. The altar was flanked with two large baskets of gladioli and on the altar were vases of pink gladioli. The double ring service was read by the Reverend Robert L. Wietelmann.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of brocade organza styled with long fitted sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. The square neckline was accented with tiny shirring in the front and the full skirt was fashioned with an apron of the same material, and tied in the back in a huge bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Beverly Juhl, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore pale green paper taffeta with a round neckline, cap sleeves and a full skirt which was corded just below the waistline. Her caplets were of the same material and she carried a bouquet of white and bronze colored mums. Her headpiece was of matching flowers.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Traxler of Ypsilanti; and Mrs. Royce Malin of Royal Oak, were gowned identically in pink brocade satins cut along the same lines as the bride's. They carried bouquets of pink and lavender mums and their headpieces were also of matching flowers.

William Mutch of Birmingham, acted as best man and A. Fletcher Plant, Jr., of Ann Arbor; Robert Traxler of Ypsilanti; Patrick Led-

Revealing the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's mother received her guests wearing a black and pink printed street length dress, black straw hat and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Juhl received with Mrs. Haglund in a light blue and white printed dress, pink flowered hat and a gardenia corsage.

When the young couple left for their honeymoon, Mrs. Juhl was wearing a grey tweed suit, black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Haglund of Royal Oak, and Mr. Juhl is the son of Mrs. J. Lehard Juhl of Birmingham and the late Mr. Juhl.

Among those spending their vacation on Crystal Lake at Beulah, Mich., are MRS. A. L. McVAUGHN and her son of Yorkshire road.
