Bloomfield Open Hunt Plans Series of Schooling Shows

Beginning on Sunday, Jan. 9 at 2:00 p.m., and every other Sunday thereafter, a schooling show will be held in the arena of the Bloomfield Open Hunt.

There will be classes in horsemanship, green and qualified hunters, jumpers, hacks and saddle horses for Junior and senior riders. Four ribbons are to be awarded in each class and a record of points won in the various shows will be kept. At the last show in April, championship and reserve championship will be awarded to the horses and riders winning the most points in their various divisions.

A different judge will be invited for each show and special attention is to be given to young riders and green horses.

Junior members are invited to a luncheon on Saturday, Dec. 18 to discuss plans for this series of schooling shows.

Are Married Saturday in Christ Church Cranbrook

In an original gown of pure silk antique satin, Miss Mary Sue Bee became the bride of James Buckley Leaky in an evening candlelight ceremony Saturday in Christ Church Cranbrook at which the Rev. Robert DeWine and Rev. Frank S. Smith of Cambria Heights, L. I. officiated.

The bridal gown was fashioned with a high, duchess collar, a tightly fitted waist fastened with tiny buttons and long, traditional folds of the skirt swept into a wide train. A crown of satin held her full length tulle veil and she carried an arrangement of white orchids.

Miss Barbara Bee, a niece of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. William Davis, Jr., a sister of the bridegroom, acted as matron of honor. They were gowned in romance blue dresses cinched with Edwardian altolettas, low round necklines edged in ruching, long sleeves and flat back pleats which provided cluster bouquets of deep purple orchids and yare shirred crownless hats.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. H. J. Klingler, Jr. of Birmingham; Mrs. Mary Carpenter and Mrs. Richard O. Reek of Detroit; Mrs. Jack Lavann of Birmingham; Miss Jane Oelmer of Oyster Bay, L. I., and Miss Patricia Abrams of Chatham, N. Y., wore identical gowns of those of the honor maids and each carried a purple orchid with a music box ornament on the handle.

Frank J. Leaky acted as his

GIRL SCOUTS

Leader Honored

A dessert honoring the leaders of all Browne and Girl Scout troops in Birmingham was held at the Community House, 254 1/2 Dec. 10. The board of directors of the Birmingham Girl Scout Council were the guests. Special tribute was paid Mrs. Andrew Watson, a leader for ten years. She showed proudly her ten year pin and displays her Girl Scout pin and pencil.

Reports of the recent regional convention were given by Mrs. R. W. Reilly, president, and Mrs. Frank Lowmyer, secretary. A presentation of metal craft for use as Christmas gifts was given by Polly Hanson. Who also made an advance announcement of the Girl Scout Fair to be held on April 3.

Dramatization
"A surprise dramatization of 'The Little Nut Tree', suitable for leaders to use in their troop was given by Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. Carl Meyer, Mrs. John St. Clair, Mrs. Harry and Mrs. Robert Kiehard. Another feature of the afternoon was 'Postures on Parade', Mrs. Frank Lowmyer's play in which appeared such alliterative characters as Sylvia Slouch, Susie Swaghead, F. B. and Mrs. Callie Samantha Stoop and Sally Sluff, not to mention Polly Posture.

Officers of the Troop
The Girl Scout officers and business manager Mrs. Wm. H. Jackson, will be open Monday, Dec. 20 and 27, but will be closed Thursday, Dec. 16, 23 and 30. Leaders in need of material from the office may secure by calling Mrs. Adams or Mrs. T. F. Sharples at her homes.

Christmas School
The fifth grade intermediate Scouts of Troop 2, meeting at Adams school, have spent the last two meetings making tray favors for the children at St. Joseph's Church, 1501 1/2 Pontiac. Helen French, Judy Turner, Shirley Phillips, Roberta Burns, and Patricia Bay formed the committee, and with assistant troop leader Mrs. Walter Barkley to deliver the favors to the hostesses.

Behind the closed door of the troop meeting room these Scouts are working at their desks for their fathers and mothers.

Quartermaster
A Christmas party for their mothers is planned for Friday, Dec. 17, by the Scouts of Troop 2, meeting at Quarters School under the leadership of Mrs. Paul McDonald and Mrs. Gardner Allen. Their recent meetings have been secret sessions for the creation of gifts for parents.

"Gifts for Yanks Who Gave" Gets Big Response

Christmas for the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, Charles Edwards Unit of Birmingham has been a full one for 1948 according to the rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. J. A. Fredman.

Mrs. Fredman, Mrs. Agnes Baynes, Mrs. Robert Appell and Mrs. Lee Mohr spent a day at Dearborn Veterans Facility helping the veterans choose and wrap gifts for their families. These women were among a group from the auxiliary who wrap and mail packages for the men.

The "Gifts for Yanks who Gave" program here was a huge success. Generous contributions were received from individual citizens and the Metropolitan Club, the Philanthropist Club, the Past Matrons Club of the Eastern Star and the Pythian Sisters. The gifts for the Yanks who Gave" have been wrapped and are ready to be distributed.

Also, the Birmingham Auxiliary members contribute to the department auxiliary mandatory funds to see that each veteran receives a crisp new $1.00 bill in his sock at Christmas.

Child welfare chairman, Mrs. Asa Cooley also reports that the children at the American Legion Billiet will receive toys, clothing and Christmas goodies. A baby cradle chair was also donated by the local auxiliary to the billiet.

Mrs. Stanley Cain Will Open Home for Christmas Party

The Christmas open house of the United Nations and International Affairs committee and the League of Women Voters will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 15 from 10:30 until 9:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Stanley Cain, 391 Fernside.

All League members are invited to attend and no reservations are necessary. Guests are asked to bring sandwiches. Coffee will be furnished by the hostess.

Mrs. John Ormond will give some of her first hand impressions of the United Nations sessions she attended in Paris. There will also be a review of the Berlin Crisis, Palestine situation and the Document of Human Rights.

Mrs. James B. Leaky

rows of Pelham; Donald Merriman of New York City; William Davis, Jr., of Casanovia, N. Y., and George E. Bee, a brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bee wore a gown of pear gray Chantilly lace with matched accessories and a purple orchid pinned to her matching bag. Mrs. Leaky was in Paris green with matching accessories. She wore orchids on her shoulder.

Following a reception in the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, the couple left on a trip to the Ponte Vedra Club in Florida. For her going away suit, the bride selected a two tone cashmere broadcloth suit of cinnamon and beige, alligator appointments and a beaver coat.

They will return to spend the Christmas holidays with the Mrs. Leaky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander Bee of Bloomfield Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell Leaky of Pelham, N. Y., and Madison, Conn., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The newweds will make their home in Hartford, Conn.
