Seek Radios for Men in Veteran Hospital

A great need for entertainment exists for the men who are confined to veteran's hospitals, and an appeal has been made to organizations which are aiding in providing comfort and entertainment for these men.

Club is trying to secure radios and surplus for distribution in the Marine and Dearborn hospitals. They ask that any family having a radio no longer in use, especially if it is a table model, contact some member of the club. Radios which are not in working order must, of course, be repaired by the units to which they are given. Any standard radio can be adapted to that it can be used either with the car phones or without.

Reading Methods Will Be Explained

Next Thursday evening, January 22, the staff of Pierce School will take over the regular P.T.A. meeting to explain reading methods with parents how reading is taught today, comparing present methods with former ones. This meeting will be the first of a series of teaching methods in several basic subjects, with the overall purpose of achieving closer cooperation between school and home.

"The better parents at home understand what we are trying to do, the better the results will be," said Principal Malcolm Ferguson. "We need to tell parents how we teach, and we know from the number of inquiries we have had at school that they are really interested in methods of teaching reading."

Showing Collection of 35 Paintings

During the month of January the Cranbrook Institute of Science is showing a collection of flower paintings by Andrew Avinoff. The thirty-five paintings which are hung in the small auditorium in the south gallery form a distinguished and brilliant show. Avinoff's draftsmanship, color and color rendering are superb, but it is the variety and versatility of his work which is the outstanding feature.
