

Nichols-Swisher Vows Exchanged Saturday Night

At the First Presbyterian Church in Royal Oak Saturday evening, Miss Norma Swisher became the bride of Clair Merwin Nichols. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Swisher of Waddington road and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nichols of Bowling Green, Ohio.

The bride was gowned in cream satin with a fitted bodice and a peplum of white satin roses. Her fingertip veil was fastened to a hair of white satin and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

Sydney Van Winkle was the maid of honor and Mary Margaret Colgrove, Margery Metzger, Sally Kreidler and Marilyn Rees served as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of pale green taffeta with matching green hats and lace mitts. Their bouquets were glorio roses and ivy.

Sally Swisher of Birmingham and Jacquelyn Swisher of Seattle, Wash., nieces of the bride, were the flower girls in yellow taffeta dresses. Their flowers were made of yellow roses and daisies.

William Healy acted as best man and seating the guests were Robert Swisher, Paul Swisher, Jr., of Seattle; Richard Reed and Merwin Apple, both of Bowling Green, Ohio.

After the reception which was held at Rotunda Inn, the young couple left for a wedding trip to Indiana. Mrs. Nichols was wearing a dusty rose gabardine suit with wine accessories and a rubrum like corsage for the first step of the trip.

Stinson-Pearson Vows Read in Afternoon Ceremony

St. James Episcopal Church was the scene Saturday of the afternoon wedding of Miss Lee Shattuck Pearson and Walter Perry Stinson.

Rev. Harold Towne officiated before an altar of white stock gladioli, larkspur and baby's breath. White candelabra and palms formed the background.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Ford Pearson of Mohegan road and Mr. Stinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Stinson of Sylvan Village, Mich.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a delicate French marquisette gown with a starched lace bertha and lace panels on the full skirt. The skirt fell into long train. The sleeves of her dress were long and pointed over the wrists. Lilies of the valley formed a coronet to hold her fingertip tulle veil. She carried a corsage of baby's breath, larkspur and carnations, all white.

Robin Pearson, the maid of honor, was dressed in ruffled necktie, ruffled peplum and full skirt. In her hair she wore a coronet of yellow daisies, delphinium and sweethearts. The flowers in her bouquet matched those on her head.

Miss Sybil Finch in peach organza, Miss Katherine Brumbaum in blue and Miss Elaine Smith in pale green, served as bridesmaids. The style of their dresses was like that of the maid of honor. They wore in their hair, as well as carried, matching flowers of white daisies, delphinium and sweethearts.

Best man was Gerald Stinson and Robert A. Hillock of Fort Huron; William Salton of Pontiac and John H. Gilbert of Birmingham seated the guests.

Mrs. Pearson chose a lime crepe afternoon dress with brown accessories and a white, carnation corsage for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the bridegroom wore a sheer black and white afternoon dress with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the Pearson home following the ceremony.

For the first step of her wedding trip to Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, Mrs. Stinson selected a grey suit with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The young couple will make their home in Waterford, Mich., upon their return.

Phyllis Tweedie Becomes Bride of Allan O. McCrae

Phyllis Tweedie and Allan O. McCrae, Jr., exchanged vows before a setting of white stock gladioli and larkspur backed by double candelabra in the First Presbyterian Church last Saturday evening. The Rev. Glen Harris officiated at the double ring ceremony.

In an ivory satin gown, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her dress was fashioned along princess lines with a square neck and a wide bertha that was trimmed with lace and seed pearls. The long sleeves were pointed and the full skirt draped into a circular train. A hair of ivory organza blossoms held her illusion fingertip veil. Her bouquet was of white roses, stephanotis and larkspur.

About her neck she wore a single strand of pearls.

In old fashioned blue taffeta dress cut with a sweetheart neckline that was edged with a ruffle of the same material, Miss Jean May Morgan served as maid of honor. A ruffle also trimmed the three-quarter sleeves and the full skirt. On her head she was a matching blue half bonnet. Matching mitts and a strand of pearls were also worn. Her cascade bouquet consisted of deep blue carnations.

Miss Lois Upton of Pontiac, in a pink taffeta gown, and her sister Miss Lois Upton, also of Pontiac, in orchid taffeta acted as bridesmaids. Their dresses were styled alike with illusion net necklines, A gold accent and the bodice formed cap sleeves, and the full skirts were made with peplums that folded into bustles. They wore wide brimmed matching hats with a large bow in back and carried a cascade of carnations in pink and deep orchid to match their gowns. A strand of pearls completed their outfits.

Donald Tweedie was the best man and seating the guests were Norman John Stanger of Royal Oak and Gerald Tweedie.

For the wedding, the bride's mother selected a fine black print street length dress of jersey. To finish her costume she wore a black picture hat and a corsage of shattered pink carnations and roses.

Mrs. McCrae was dressed in a powder blue crepe street length dress and wore a white hat and accessories. Her corsage was one of shattered pink carnations and roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. A. O. THALACKER of the Orchard Lake Country Club. Among the guests were Mrs. Donald Chaffee, Mrs. Dwight Dickman, Jr., Mrs. Bruce Lafer, Mrs. Robert Emmet, Mrs. Wesley Martin of Pontiac, and Robert A. Bromley, Mrs. Orville Miller and Mrs. Willis Thomas.

Deadline for CLUB NEWS remains at noon Mondays.
