Meat Soups Are Refreshing During This Hot Weather

The smart summer cook is one who keeps her meals cool, light and refreshing, at the same time inexpensive. Summer soups made with meaty soup bones and fresh garden vegetables are an appetizing way to do this.

If you ask for soup bones frequently at your meat dealer's, he may begin to save his best ones for you. There is plenty of the good meat flavor left in the bone that remains unchanged by salt water. Note the smart detail of the cuff-edged bra top—and the flattering pleated skirt.

Cover the soup bone with water, add salt, pepper and herbs if you like, then cover the kettle and cook at simmering heat for about 2 or 3 hours. That allows plenty of time for gardening or taking care of the lawn. Be sure to bring in some carrots, green pepper, onions and potatoes from the garden, to cut fine and cook in the soup stock until just-tender. Add sandwiches, fruit salad and a beverage for a fine summer meal.

Or remove the bone from the soup stock and store immediately in the refrigerator to heat up with vegetables for a quick lunch supper dish. Either way saves time, money and tempers during hot weather.

Suited For Swimming

HERE is a bathing suit in a new fabric which combines service-ability with good looks. Made of Avisco spun rayon and cotton, the fabric is firm and resilient and remains unchanged by salt water. Note the smart detail of the cuff-edged bra top—and the flattering pleated skirt.

A Fine Printing Plant

We're proud of the kind of weekly newspaper we publish . . . one of the best in the country according to the impartial rating of journalism schools.

But we're proud, too, of our printing department . . . for this part of our business has grown so soundly that today it represents 6 times the volume of the newspaper department.

To have changed from an incidental factor in our original business operation to the predominant segment of manufacturing suggests we have developed a printing service that has been recognized as GOOD (if not outstanding).

How else can you account for customers preferring our suburban location against the availability of 586 printers right IN Detroit?
