Lathrup Village News

By LILLIAN DIEDERICH

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Murphy of Rosewood boulevard have returned after a three weeks' motor trip through the deep south including tours of New Orleans.

Mr. William Jenkins of St. Louis, Mo., visited his brother, E. C. Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins who reside on Santa Barbara drive with their daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saur.

The Seton Guild, organized seven years ago, met Thursday at a tea in the home of Mrs. R. Paul Bowman of Lakewood road.

The Guild is composed of 160 members from Grange Pointe, Royal Oak, Franklin Village, Lathrup Village, Huntington Woods and Detroit. Of that number only about 35 members are actively engaged in promoting recreation and supplying certain articles of wearing apparel for underprivileged children in an orphanage.

The Guild is desirous of more members to meet each month at designated homes and to further the effort.

With that aim in view Mrs. Maurice Murphy will open her home Thursday, Oct. 28, at a pot luck luncheon. A bridge luncheon is in the offing for November and it will be held in the Birmingham Community House. A number of benefits are planned for this fall in order to purchase snow suits for the little folks. Persons interested in joining the Guild may contact this columnist.

Residents Approve Great Books Plan; Meet Next Month

"Shall Birmingham have a Great Books program this winter?" The answer to this question, which was recently asked of Mr. and Mrs. Birmingham, seems to be a decided "Yes!"

Miss Jeanne Lloyd, librarian at Baldwin Public Library, reports that many residents have given their approval of this proposed program by phone or personal contact with the library staff.

The first meeting has been set for the early part of November, the exact date to be announced later. The meeting will be held at the library when final plans for its operation will be announced.

October will see several meetings between like groups in the Detroit area and Byron S. Farwell of the Great Books Foundation.

These meetings will be of survey techniques of group discussion and the books which will be read and talked of at the various meetings.

27 Years Old The Great Books program was started 27 years ago by John Erskine and has been given great impetus during the present decade by Dr. Hutchins of the University of Chicago. It avoids lectures and formal classes, stressing rather the spontaneous reaction of thinking readers on some of the greatest books in the world. It brings out opinions more freely through the use of small groups on universal problems as they affect life and society from the days of Plato and Aristotle down through the eras of Lincoln, Karl Marx and into today.

In a recent issue of "Life Magazine" it was said of the discussion: "The levity that occasionally punctuates the discussion emphasizes the fact that the objective of the program is not technical or scholarly training, but general education for ordinary men and women. In addition, since the authors are great liberal education."

"Much adult conversation is superficial and Great Books introduces ideas that are deeper and broader than our own and, to the extent that they are great, they are free from petty or provincial prejudice. Machiavelli, Lincoln, Rousseau, Locke and the Bible raise sharp and (for us) new arguments on the question, 'What shall we do with Germany?'"

Questions such as this, and many others, will be forthcoming in the discussion of the local groups. Miss Lloyd invites any others interested in joining with them to contact members of the library staff either by phone or in person for further details.
