INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alliman

GLADSTONE—The man who made the "better mousetrap" 50 years ago this September, was Webster L. Marble.

The founder of the Marble Arms and Manufacturing Company, Gladstone's leading industry, proved the old adage still holds good. A world of sportsmen beat a path through purchases of Marble's quality hunting and fishing equipment to this Upper Peninsula small town.

The story of Marble is the story of American opportunity. It is another Michigan Alger-toriches chapter in the annals of frontier enterprise.

... Laing Marble, a timber cruiser, took up his home near Grand Frankfort on the lower shore of Lake Michigan. Here his son, Webster, was born in 1898. He followed his father's lead to follow the woods as a career.

"I took to the woods like a duck to the water," he once related. "The greatest enjoyment of my life has come in the woods. As a young fellow, I got my greatest thrill out of starting out with a map and a compass to explore new territory for signs of game, equipment, and stop wherever night overtook me."

"I was gratified to feel that I was remote from everything civilized and exploring new regions."

West Point Cadet Dain W. Milliman, Is Squad Leader

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Cadet Dain W. Milliman, a third class man or sophomore at the United States Military Academy, has been appointed a squad leader for the summer training period.

As leader of the twelve men in his squad, Milliman is charged with the maintenance of discipline within the squad, as well as being responsible for its proper functioning since only supervisory control of the cadets is maintained by commissioned officers. This is in line with the Academy's policy of allowing the cadets to gain practical leadership experience as an officer in the Regular Army or Air Force.

Milliman attended Birmingham high school and the Kiski Preparatory School in Pittsburgh where he received letters in wrestling and tennis. He also attended the University of Michigan for one year before entering the United States Military Academy.

Appointed to the Academy by Senator Homer Ferguson, Cadet Milliman has recently won numerous letters in wrestling and also a member of the Ski Club.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dain W. Milliman of 1260 Yorkville Ave., Milliman hopes to be commissioned in the Air Force upon graduation in 1951.

His ventures into Michigan forests prompted him to design a metal guard to fit over a small pocket axe. This replaced the unwieldy axe which hung at his belt.

Other hunters, fishermen and trappers liked it.

"Make me one just like it" was the familiar phrase. So Webster installed a little workshop at the rear of his home in Gladstone. That winter in 1908, in the first year he manufactured 3,000 safety pocket axes.

Knives came next. And then followed other improved items: Waterproof match box, compasses, special trout knife, clincher gun for landing fish, signal gun, cleaners and rods, and nitro solvent oil.

The idea for the waterproof match box came to Marble while he was traveling on a train north from Grand Rapids. The new product clicked instantly. During World War I, for example, the English government ordered 12,000 for use of soldiers in the trenches.

Another hard to believe fact: Ninety percent of Marble-made knives are bought by sportsmen who have no practical use for them. They want a knife as an ornament, to display, or perhaps for the pleasure of merely possessing it. This observation was made by Marble himself. Hence the popularity of such hand-made items.

Today, the business is run efficiently by James T. Jones, general manager since 1912. Jim joined the firm in 1908 as an accountant. William L. Marble, eldest son of the founder, is the president of the firm, which is a subsidiary corporation, Marble-Card Electric Company, which manufactures electric motors. The two plants at Gladstone employ approximately 100 persons, mostly men.

Webster L. Marble preferred his hunting camp at Round Lake, about 33 miles north and east of Gladstone, to the ease and comforts of city living.

It was in September, 1930, when he went to camp for the last time.

His friends say he would have wanted it that way. He died in the woods.

The story of Webster L. Marble is a mirror of American enterprise.
