Did you know . . . ?
That the high chair has become the low chair? Baby's new safety chair looks like a small low card table on wheels with a seat in one corner. It suspends the child in seat fixed in the gravity center of the table and gives more than enough room for him to play and eat. Mommy gets a small folding chair with the set so she can sit down and feed him. That adding a little salt to egg whites helps them to whip up into nice fluffy peaks? That very young children need a certain amount of finger food? This encourages the appetite and does much to avoid the "won't eat" problem. It cuts down feeding time and is good for the development of teeth.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
"Sunday Best" Ginger Bread
1 package gingerbread or ginger cake mix
1/2 cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
2 cups boiling water
4 tablespoons lemon juice
1 3-oz. package cream cheese
Prepare the gingerbread according to the directions on the package. Make the lemon sauce by combining sugar, cornstarch, salt, and lemon rind in a saucepan; the boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Remove from the stove and add the butter and the lemon juice. Cut a generous amount of the cream cheese and put on top of each square of gingerbread. Serve with the hot lemon sauce poured over it.

Makeups: One fresh start on makeup during the day has more face value than constant patching up. Apply morning makeup in the daylight rather than under electric light. This can be done by placing a hand mirror against the window and sitting before the window . . . Powder should be lightly and evenly applied and practically not used at all where it is apt to clog the pores. Take a second look at your lipstick. Does it still harmonize with your complexion now that "Old Sol" has been shining down on you? Maybe a change in color of your lipstick would do more for you than you can you'd ever dream it would.

Farm Fed Children vs. City Fed Children: A large food company recently made a survey of the diets of children living on farms and in cities. Believe it or not the results showed that although the farm fare may be the source of hearty, wholesome food, only 27% of country children have good diets as compared to 42% of the city children. How well are your children being fed? Better check the "Wheel of Good Eating" which describes the seven basic foods that should be dropped in post order to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., requesting this free aid to your child's health.

Clothing: Among your best buys this season are the gold shoes, belts, and bags which are featured as summer and fall accessories.
