Miss Grace Loeber Becomes Bride of George Austin

The Messiah Evangelical Lutheran Church in Detroit was the setting Tuesday morning, August 23, for the 9:30 o'clock nuptials of Miss Grace Dorothea Loeber and George Allan Austin who is cottage at Lake Fenton, the new Mrs. Austin selected a light brown tulle dress suit. Her shoes and bag were brown suede and she wore a light brown feather trimmed hat.

The couple will make their home at Ann Arbor, Mich., in Pittsfield Village where Mr. Austin will continue his studies in psychology at the Rackham Graduate School at the University.

Mrs. George Austin

the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. LeRoy Austin of Westwood drive, Miss Loeber is the daughter of The Rev. and Mrs. Adolf H. A. Loeber of Detroit. The bride's father officiated at the rites which were performed before an altar banked with white gadioli, cymbodium ferns and candelabra, before members of the family and a few intimate friends.

The bride was gowned in white brides' pique. The dress was fashioned with a very full circular skirt that was topped with a short fitted jacket and high lighted by a tiny pointed collar. A cap of Venetian lace held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gadioli centered with a glameilla corsage. As maid of honor, Miss Lenore Marion Loeber, a sister of the bride, wore white pique also. Her gown was cut with a four gored skirt, cap sleeves, and a boat neckline. Featured on the gown was a dusty rose velvet ribbon at the waistline. Her flowers were made up of gadioli of the same shade as the velvet ribbon and were arranged in a cascade bouquet.

P. Thomas Austin of Birmingham acted as his brother's best man and seating the guests were Richard Austin, another brother of the bridegroom, and Paul Loeber, a brother of the bride. Mrs. Loeber wore, for her daughter's marriage and for the reception which followed for members of the family in the church lounge, a navy blue voile ensemble which featured long full sleeves and a bouffant four gored skirt. Her straw hat was of blue and on her shoulder was pinned a corsage of pale pink roses. Mrs. Austin chose an aquamarine blue suit accented with a beige petal hat and cream roses for her flowers.

Flatman-Salzinger Rites Are Read in Birmingham Church

WALNUT LAKE—St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham was the scene of the marriage Sunday afternoon of Charissa Ann Salzinger, daughter of Mrs. Burton Bingham and Mr. Paul Salzinger and Jack Flatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Flatman.

Maxine Snyder was the bridesmaid and Robert Lee of Port Huron, a cousin of the groom, was the best man.

The bride wore a linen suit dress with cap sleeves. Her accessories and orchid corsage were matching shades of light blue.

Mrs. Bingham chose for the occasion, a royal blue suit with matching blue accessories and wore a corsage of tulle and rose buds. Mrs. Flatman wore a taupe matelasse dress and used brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Miss Snyder was suited in a Nile green tulle with white accessories, and wore a gardenia corsage.

After the dinner and reception which was held at the Flatman residence the bridal couple left for a week's honeymoon in northern Michigan. They will be at home in the apartment on Spring street when they return.
