

Michigan Banks Earn Sixth AMA Award

The Leonard Gorman home at 2930 12 Mile road, destroyed by fire last week, is in Farmington township, not Lathrup Village, as stated in the story's headline in last week's issue.

For the sixth consecutive year, Michigan banks have earned the American Bankers Association award for service to agriculture. Herbert H. Gardner, president of the Birmingham National Bank, revealed Tuesday.

Gardner said the award is presented each year to the state bankers associations of states whose banks have been of outstanding service to agriculture during the preceding year.
