Now In The Winter

BY BEATRICE McDONALD

How very lovely is the world! How light And soft and feathery the falling snow! The houses and the trees are crystal white. Across the silent earth a silver glow Spreads underneath the slender sicle snow! And three small lonely stars. How beautiful! A winter world wrapped up in carded wool!

YMCA Men's Teams Opens Court Season Tonight in Detroit

For the past three weeks, Don Little has put the Birmingham YMCA Men's team through their paces in preparation for their 1949 season. Tonight the results of his efforts will take form when the Darts, Green opposes St. Antonio '47 quintet on the Detroit-ere' floor.

Little will probably start with Ruge Reynolds and Gene Sutton playing the guard positions, flanked by Tom Macdon and Al Larson at forwards and Dick Blaugan holding down the center post.

This five will be supported by capable reserves in John Baxter, Gene Wilkins, Harry Sugden and forwards and George Pope and Don Runkel at the guards.

Red Kotlie will share the center position with Blaugan. Coach Little will use his own talents where occasion and opportunity present.

In meeting St. Antonio, the Birmingham group faces a veteran team that lost but two games last season and who have not been defeated on their own floor in three years. St. Antonio boasts several former Wayne University and Miller high school grads on its squad.

Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Welcome Back

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts and two small daughters, former Franklinites, who have again taken up residence in the landmark.

Landmark Passes
No more will the sound of children's laughter ring from the twisted branches of the old yellow tree in the front yard of the Slade home. For today a buzz saw and ax was the climax for the landmark which has stood for over a century in the center of Franklin village.

The Slade family, and old timers, watched the proceedings with regret. It was like losing an old friend and left Franklin looking a little undressed.

Six generations of the Slade family have guarded and cared for the old willow and their children have played in the tree. Years ago there was a tree house there, and Buell Slade tells of his parents and grandparents climbing steps that were built up its trunk to the hide-out.

So, Franklin Village says farewell to another landmark, victim of evolution and the price of progress. Thus we add another link to our chain of pleasant memories.
