Revising Physical Education Plan in Local Schools

A complete revision and reorganization of the health and physical education department of the Birmingham Public School System is materializing under the direction of several newly created committees.

The movement is an outgrowth from three main causes. First, the school system has undergone a tremendous growth in physical size, school personnel, and students during the past 20 years. Second, educational institutions have begun to question the value of many of their old established purposes.

And third, implications are that the social structure of tomorrow will find the modern school system meeting the needs of its community as well as that of its individual pupils.

Eliminate Old Forms
The physical education committee hopes to eliminate old forms of his or miss physical education, provide methods for securing adequate equipment, offer suggestions for increasing properly trained teacher personnel, and meet student recreational needs.

Attempts will be made to create classes which will provide for the correction of individual defects, offer activities which develop organic vitality, allow for the mastering of fundamental skills, and create motives for high social and moral standards.

Active members of the physical education committee are Miss Frances Jeanette Mrs. Margaret Henderson, Miss Frances Curtin, Miss Theresa Nellenbach, Howard Sumera, Fred Gibson, Lloyd Cooper, Vincent Secontine and Frank Whitney.

City Will Join Fight Against New Bus Line

The City of Birmingham, together with several other Southeastern Oakland county communities, will appear before Judge Lewis Coah in Lansing Michigan to argue for a permanent injunction prohibiting the American Bus Line Co. of Chicago from being granted a franchise through Michigan from Toledo to Bay City.

City commissioners Monday evening passed a resolution favoring the stand of the Southern Michigan County Transportation Committee which has unanimously gone on record as opposing the franchise, recently granted by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Clarence Vliet, Birmingham's representative on the SOCTC, in a letter to the city commission, pointed out that the city commission believes present Greyhound service will suffer, particularly feeder lines.

Would Eliminate Feeder Lines
"For this area, at made to well regulated monopoly will provide much better service than competition would," Vliet said.

Mayor Milton F. Mallender, in speaking against the MPSC's action, declared, "This area has many Greyhound feeder lines which are operated at a loss to the company. If Greyhound faced competition along its main route (US-10) the first thing it would be forced to do would be eliminate its feeder lines in order to keep from going into the red. That service elimination would seriously handicap Birmingham and other nearby communities."
