

Walnut Lake Holds Installation of Year's Officers

New officers were installed at the assembly held in the Walnut Lake School on Friday.

President of the student council is Tim Selner; vice-president, David Goodwin; secretary, Patty Peluso; treasurer, Sharon McKay. Members of the council from each grade are: David Goodwin and Patty Peluso representing the sixth grade; Tim Selner and Sue Carey, fifth; Sharon McKay and Paul Sechrist, fourth. The third grade is represented by Harvey Selner and Pam Parkins; second grade, Marc Whims and Jill Monton; first grade, David Sarlund and Jerry Chalmers.

Room officers were also installed. Officers for the fifth and sixth grade room are president, Douglas Lewis; vice-president, Ellen King; secretary, Jack Hadfield; vice-secretary, Marion Kodak.

Officers elected in the third and fourth grade room were president, Peter Wynn; vice-president, Barbara Shank; secretary, Patricia McLennan; vice-secretary, Leslie Stevens.

First and second graders chose Bobby Stintz as their president; Dick Macdonald as vice-president; Roy Marvin as secretary and Amelia Christie as treasurer.

Douglas Lewis is captain of the Safety Patrol and David Goodwin is the lieutenant. Captain of the Safety Squad is Sandra Overgard and the lieutenant is Ellen King.

Sally Hanson was general chairman of the assembly. Reports were given by the retiring officers and the chairman of committees. In the absence of Douglas Lewis, Patty Nyberg gave the pencil report and David Goodwin the report for the Safety Patrol. Patty Peluso gave the savings stamp report.

All Stars Almost Certain to Win Y Championship

By virtue of their 40 to 31 win Monday evening over the Virginia Market quintet, A's All Stars assured themselves of the title in the Birmingham YMCA City Basketball League. They have eight victories and no defeats with only two games to play. W. A. Caltrider, in second place, has five wins against three losses with two games to play.

Harold Kelley and Don Little teamed up to score 29 points for the All Stars and put Larsen's boys into front from the very start of the play.

Jim Keith tossed in 12 points for Virginia Market and kept them in the running.

Change Offense

W. A. Caltrider changed its offense from a slow to fast break and employed a man-to-man defense in defeating Exchange sponsored club. The 33-to-21 win for the automobile ladies were un-disputed possession of second place.

Behind 10 to 4 at the end of the first quarter, Caltrider closed the cap and brought the score to 14 to 12 at half time and then drove into the lead in the third quarter with a barrage of five baskets.

Rotary Defeated

Michigan Bell Telephone managed to free their forwards for repeated shots from underneath the basket and won from Rotary by a score of 46 to 41. The telephone boys were behind in the second and third quarters of play.

In the fourth quarter, Carl Hill, Raymie McBride and Jim Bartrow began to connect and gradually wore down the Rotary lead until 20 score was tied at 40 all.

Carl Hill's three baskets in the closing minutes of play proved to be the margin of victory for the Blue and Gold.

deeply concerned about such matters as regional planning, city development, parking, job placement, more facilities for recreation and the development of our park resources.

"We asked those who came to the Institute dinner to discuss during the evening what they do and do not like about Birmingham and from their talk to formulate some questions for the guidance of panel speakers in the question period that closed the Institute. Unfortunately there never was time for all or even a small part of the questions in people's minds. But they revealed intelligent interest and showed that some people, at least, are deeply concerned about the local planning situation."

Swartz outlined briefly the subject matter of some of the questions. Several concerned recreation areas, regional development, parking and whether the services of a city planning expert are required. The group which said it would like to see a city formed asked: "What can we in Birmingham do to prevent the city from dying in the middle?"

Expect Same Fate?

"These questions showed us that people," Swartz continued, "were concerned before they heard the warning of people like Elsie Saarinen that Birmingham must expect the same fate as Detroit unless its plans intelligently and prevents the traffic situation which has ruined large areas of the city."

"I for one," Swartz said, "think that people do not know exactly what they are doing. They want to do the right thing but aren't sure what it is. An vote often decides whether good planning can be carried out, it is obvious that the voters should be well informed in order to vote to their own advantage."

"There are several organizations in the city which cooperate with the Council, or with which the Council is willing to cooperate. The information that will be available to the public, not as just one or two people, but as the organization, I hope that such an organization can be worked out."

to put the plan into action, can be a real detriment to a city, he feels. He also said he felt every one should have a part in the planning, not just a small group.

"That is all right," Saarinen replied. "But when you build a building, you have a lot of people plan, and what do you get? There must be one person to design the building."

When the meeting was opened for audience participation, the question of parking was brought up as a major issue.

"This is not a local problem," Ditchy said. "It's not an easy one to solve by any means. We can't just throw a person just can't resist," he said.
