Miss Susan Walters of Ann Arbor, maid of honor wore blue lace and taffeta, the lace bodice cut along the same lines as the bride's gown, with a full tulle skirt and lace ruffles forming a curved peplum. Don't Fence Yourself In Every spring, Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts patch up the stone wall that separates their farms. They work along talking—Easy on one side, Handy on the other—picking up the fallen stones and putting them back.

Afterwards, over a friendly glass of beer, Easy says, "You know, wall-mending is nice neighborly custom, but we really don't need that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there."

"Yes," says Handy, "a lot of walls and fences and boundaries keep on separating people for no good reason. Maybe we'd all be better off if some of them were torn down, instead of kept standing."

From where I sit, Handy said a mouthful, "Take the 'walls of intolerance' that people build up against each other. I like a temperature glass of beer now and then, you may prefer buttermilk—that's no reason for me to criticize you, or you, me. Let's live and let live—together—making more friends and fewer 'walls.'"

Two of America's Most Popular Motor Cars

Pictured above are typical examples of the two smart and separate lines of cars which bear the current imprint of Pontiac goodness—the Streamliner and the Chiefine De Luxe Sedan Coupe.

Each is in such demand that, on its own, it ranks among America's most popular cars today. That two cars of such decidedly different appearance should each enjoy such wide acceptance is easy to explain.

THEY'RE BOTH PONTIACS!

Both offer all the great basic Pontiac virtues. Both are conspicuously beautiful. Both carry the well-known promise of Pontiac quality—long life, dependability, and fine performance. Both afford the smooth, enjoyable performance of Pontiac's two great engines—the power-packed straight eight or its equally famous six-cylinder companion. And since both have Pontiac's exclusive Travelux Ride, both are made for comfort.

And finally, both represent annual values—a very fine product at a very low price. Either one you choose will make you mighty happy.

Hydra-Matic Drive, white sidewall tires, bumper spring guards and fender skirts available as extra cost.
