McLeese-Schock Rites Read In Glen Ellyn, Ill., Friday

Before an altar lanked with palms and white flowers, Miss Joan Marguerite Schock and Don-ald Martin McLeese exchanged vows before the Rev. J. Stanley Stevens in the First Congregation-al Church of Glen Ellyn, Ill., Fri-day evening. Mr. and Mrs. George James Schock of Glen Ellyn are the bride's parents and Mr. Mc-Leese is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. McLeese of Brookdale road.

For her wedding, Miss Schock wore ivory satin. The illusion yoke was embroidered with iri-scent sequins and seed pearls in a flower design. The bodice was fitted and long as were the sleeves. A draped hipline ended in a bustle in the back and the full skirt swept into a long train. A braided satin halo held her tiered illusion fingertip length veil and she carried white roses centered with orchids.

As maid of honor, Miss Jeanne Barrett of Joliet, Ill., wore by-cinch toned taffeta cut with an illusion yoke of the same color and a bertha collar. The dress was fash-ioned along princess lines with an apron effect which formed a bus-le-like bow in back. Her hat was of braided taffeta and illusion and she carried shasta daisies of var-ied shades.

The bridesmaids, Miss Lois Mc-Leese, a sister of the bridegroom from Birmingham; Miss Patricia Baker of Chicago, Ill.; Miss Jean Angle of Huntington Woods, and Miss Grace Dodge wore gowns identical to the honor maids and also carried shaded shasta daisies.

Best man was James Tracy of Park Ridge, Ill., and the ushers included Richard Schock of Glen Ellyn, brother of the bride; Rob-ert Schuler of Popoka, Kans.; Rich-ard Krapfel of Centerville, Iowa; and Thomas Millebrandt of Bir-mingham.
