The school of church music is under the direction of Philip Malpas, organist and choirmaster of Christ Church Cranbrook. His staff will include Everett Titcomb and George Faxon, both of Boston, Mass. Titcomb, composer, choral conductor, and eminent authority on church music, is the organist and choirmaster of the Church of St. John the Evangelist and instructor of church music at the New England Conservatory. Faxon, concert organist, and organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Advent, is a member of the organ faculties of the Longy Music School in Cambridge and the New England Conservatory. Lutheran Church to Celebrate Seventh Anniversary Sunday

Members and friends of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer have set aside next Sunday to celebrate the seventh anniversary of the dedication of their church building. The morning worship period will be one of thanksgiving and praise, in which the pastor, the Rev. Theodore Wuggazer, will speak on the words of Christ: "This day I must abide at thy house."

The annual family supper is scheduled for 6:30 Sunday evening. At the evening program the Detroit physician and surgeon, Dr. E. F. Dittmer, will present a lecture on the subject: "Psychosomatic Medicine." This is a timely subject, dealing with the effects of mental and spiritual attitudes upon our physical health.

Dr. Dittmer has done considerable research in this field and has been successful in its application. During this lecture for the adults, the children will witness a demonstration by Edwin Craves and his youth group.

In the past seven years Redeemer congregation has grown to a communicant membership of 350 and a Sunday school enrollment of 230. A committee has recently been appointed to draw up initial plans for the construction of a Sunday school building. This has been made necessary because of the rapid growth of the school.
