GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scouts and their mothers—that's an old combination and one that has accomplished many fine achievements for Scouting—but Girl Scouts and their mothers. That's something new and something to watch with interest, judging by the turn-out at the recent father and daughter banquet in the Community House, and the Father's Day ceremony put on by troops No. 11 and No. 24 at Franklin on Sunday, June 19. For troop No. 24 it was Flip-up ceremony for 11 Brownies and their fathers were there to hear them take the Girl Scout Promise and repeat the laws. For troop No. 11, intermediate fifth and sixth grade Girl Scouts, proficiency badges were awarded for accomplishments on the path to first class Scout-hood.

The tea following the ceremony featured Mrs. Jean Whaley, concert pianist. A resume of the year's activities was given by the troops' scribes as well as a report on the condition of the treasuries of both troops. Programs in the pattern of the Girl Scout trefol were prepared by the girls for this occasion. Among those who were present were Mrs. Cassius Miller, president of Birmingham Girl Scout Council, and Mrs. John P. St. Clair, volunteer trainer for leaders of intermediate troops.

Mrs. Ford Ritner and Mrs. Philip Price are leaders of Troop No. 11 and have been assisted all year by troop committee members Mrs. W. Higman, Mrs. Arthur Neil and Mrs. Ruben Romar. Troop No. 24 has Mrs. A. J. Sutherland as leader and Mrs. Albert Carr as assistant leader, with Mrs. Laurence Martz, Mrs. Chester Hard and Mrs. H. Roseberry as troop committee members.

Founder's Biography
For that summer reading, Scouts, how about "Juliette Low by Mildred Mastin Pace"? It is a fine biography of the founder of Girl Scouting in this country. Order it from the Girl Scout catalog.

The newcomers from Trenton, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Z. Fox and their children, Sammy and Danny? Mr. Fox is at the Detroit Arsenal. The family is residing at 1881 Hazel

Street, New York 18. The chart is in color and in addition to the wild flowers to be found from April through September, it shows five habitat groups with a key to the type of flower to be found in each. Try sticking it up with a border of masking tape and produce a picture frame effect.

Note to campers: Be sure to flatten and bury your tin cans deep before leaving a camp site (or take them along) so that other campers will see that same beauty in the spot. "Pork and Beans" is helied on the table than obscuring the maiden hair fern!
