

The Birmingham Centric

A group of "little troubles" were walking down the street. "Where are you going?" asked a passerby. Suddenly, one of them replied: "Oh, just where we're expected." How often one may succumb to negative thinking, taking the pessimistic side of a situation, thus inviting trouble.

Reasoning Petition Denied by City

A petition for the reopening of the southwest corner of Vinewood and Woodward from multiple zoning because they claimed it dwelling to terrace was denied by the city commission at a hearing.

Monday night. The commission also refused to rezone a single lot on Vinewood, just west of the multiple zone property, from single family to terrace.

Abutting property owners, as well as neighbors, objected to the zoning because they claimed it dwelling to terrace would lower their single property valuations.

Posters Remind Children of Street Dangers

Birmingham youngsters have put away their school books and, according to Police Chief R. W. Mosley, have entered one of the most dangerous times of the year, as far as traffic accidents are concerned.

These gummed stickers, each one also carries a reminder to parents of the dangers of the summer months. During the months when children are out of school and are traveling from home to places of amusement, traffic is at its heaviest. While Birmingham was most fortunate last summer, Detroit recorded 11 deaths and 732 injuries to children during the vacation period.

Bits of Birmingham

The safe, at Carner's certainly is struggling to get into and keep in the news. A few months ago it turned up in Birmingham and finally located by the police out of Birmingham Hills, very empty, with much of its contents strewn around the truck which was stolen to haul it away in the city. Last week it turned up again at Carner's, where it was decided the safe's best days were over. However, neither the owner nor police reckoned with the tendency which a safe can cling to headlines, once it has made them, for very shortly after said junk dealer started away from Birmingham, said safe was found lying on Hunter boulevard where it had fallen off the truck!

Local Firm Awarded Regional Dealership

The home service division of Brass Unlimited has been appointed local distributor for the Robin screen and storm sash window product of the Chamberlain Company of America.

details of measurements and installation, according to Umland, who added the completed job averages about three weeks, from date of measurements to date of installation.

IT'S DIFFERENT!

It turns its back to the road... this attractive brick home near the Rouge... and looks out over rolling fairways and verdant greens. And it's charmingly different... with the atmosphere found only in homes that are carefully planned and designed.

FIRST FLOOR: CENTER HALL, with curving brick wall leading to the LIVING ROOM and the huge porch beyond, looking out on the golf course... pleasant DINING ROOM... compact KITCHEN... LIBRARY and extra LAVATORY.

SECOND FLOOR: Two fine BEDROOMS, each with a huge bay and large closets... a nicely tiled BATH with a dressing alcove. (The den on the first floor serves as guest room, top.)

BASEMENT: Full... high ceilings... General Electric oil furnace... and only 1200 gallons heat it comfortably... Laundry... room for play or hobby.

1940 built... Brace floors... complete storm sash and screens... stove and refrigerator included in the price... attached 2 car garage. Priced at only $22,500... and worth it.

Not the conventional, but the unusual... it's different! You'll find it completely charming... and you'll enjoy living here. Let's look today!

Did you think the Birmingham Centric has turned into a movie magazine as you read last week's issue?

"Maureens O'Sullivan" appeared in the news from Walnut Lake, then along came Franklin with "Shirley Temple". We're not kidding, those names really did appear last week—check back and see. However, this Wanderer is a bit disappointed. There wasn't a "Clark Gable" to be found anywhere.

3 Birmingham Girls Will Attend Opening of Camp Cavell

One hundred fifty school girls in the Detroit area are packing bathing suits and tennis rackets, shirts and blue jeans this week for a big day—July 2, which marks the opening of Camp Cavell on Lake Huron. This is the 26th season for Camp Cavell which is owned and operated by the YWCA of Detroit.

Marjorie Magee, assistant principal of Grant School, will serve as director of Camp Cavell for the 10th year.

Mrs. Magee states that a few openings are available for campers in the final two-week period which opens August 14. Camp Cavell is filled to capacity for the three earlier periods.

Fireworks Displays at Walled Lake Park on July 3 and 4

Patriotism and pleasure will be the combination for Walled Lake Park fireworks. For this coming weekend of July 3-4.

The patriotic touch will be provided by the fireworks on Monday and Tuesday nights. This will mark the twenty-first consecutive year that Walled Lake Park has provided such spectacular shows, according to Fred W. Pearce, president.

In addition to the fireworks displays, Walled Lake Park will feature its usual amusements, picnic facilities, and there will be dancing to the music of Tommy Carlyn and his orchestra in the New Casino Ballroom.

The entire park will be decorated with flags, bunting and streamers for the holiday occasion.

Hundreds of tables and benches are free for family and picnic parties. There is free parking for thousands of automobiles.
