170 Victims Die in Traffic Mishaps During September

The traffic death toll in Michigan climbed to 170 during September, an average of nearly six persons each day.

The total was an increase of 20 over the number killed in the same month last year and was the highest September fatality record since 1941. It was also the second consecutive month in which the death trend was upward. From April through July there had been a decrease.

Average 128 Per Day
In addition to those killed, the State Police monthly statistical report shows that 2,284 persons were injured during September, an average of 128 each day, and 12,002 accidents were reported, an average of 400 a day.

Compared with the same month last year, injuries increased eight per cent and accidents were up 12 per cent.

All of the fatality increase occurred in rural areas, mostly on trunkline highways. Urban deaths decreased. The four-day Labor Day weekend accounted for 37 of the deaths.

Driving Too Fast
Most common driver violations included driving too fast for conditions, disregarding warning signs and stop signs, improper passing, driving on the wrong side of the road and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Figures for the first nine months of the year show 1,003 persons killed, 29,568 injured and 1,022,881 reported accidents. Compared with the same period last year, deaths decreased one or two per cent, injuries increased 446 or two per cent, and reported accidents were up 1,322 or one per cent.

Mileage for August, the last month available, was up 14 per cent over the same month of 1948. Mileage for the first eight months showed an increase of five per cent over the same period last year, but the death rate per 100 million miles of travel was down nine per cent.

Between 4 and 8 per cent of the population is left handed.

"My Ironrite helps me lead a double life"

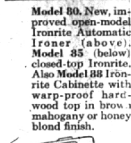

says MARY ELLEN GLEASON
(Mrs. Frank Langone)
Sherman Oaks, California

1. "Between movie and television work and maintaining a home for my son and husband, my time is firmly budgeted. Before I got my Ironrite Automatic Ironer, the laundry was sent out. Hand ironing just took too long and left me worn out.

"I discovered Ironrite when I was cast for Ironrite's full-color demonstration movie. Mastering the Ironrite was the easiest thing in the world and, naturally, I soon bought one of my own.

"Now my double life as career girl and housewife is lots easier and I avoid risking vital health and beauty over back-breaking hand ironing. Why not see your Ironrite dealer today!

2. "I found Ironrite's two completely usable open ends made it possible to iron anything washable quickly and beautifully. In fact, I found ironing actually relaxing.

3. "Even the little girl dresses I did in the movie were easy on the Ironrite. Clever Do-all ironing points at each end of the shoe reach into every tuck and gather."
