Safety Expert Revamps Courtesy Code

Because safety is involved, no well-remembered woman, says Traffic Expert Slutz, will accept a light from a man while he's driving a car.

Man has been helping woman through doors for centuries. But she should not permit it, according to Slutz, when the courtesy forces a man to enter or emerge from a car on the side of flowing traffic.

DON SLUTZ, managing director of the Detroit Traffic Safety Association, has laid out a code for women auto passengers. It violates many accepted standards of civility but, Slutz explains, "I think women would prefer a discourteous escort to a gallant corpse."
 "My basic rule for women passengers," says Slutz, "is not to take offense at a male driver's disregard for the little considerations normally due her sex."
 The accompanying pictures illustrate some of the Slutz ideas on manners.

Monarchs at Carnival Receive Many Gifts

Following the coronation ceremonies, the grand march was led by Belora Kurkowski and Wayne Phillips, Dolores Klusendorf and Arthur Dear, Beverly Solem, and Jim Phillips, other contenders for the title.
 The reigning monarchs were presented several gifts by Barbara Siglow and Doralee Spencer.

'My Friend Irma' Selected by PTA

"My Friend Irma," a movie inspired by a current radio program, has been chosen as the leading attraction at the PTA-sponsored matinee for children Saturday at the Birmingham theater. Marie Wilson and John Lund have the leading roles in this comedy which, according to the PTA movie committee, is suitable for all ages.
 The committee rates "Portrait of Jennie" and "Brimstone" which are booked for showing at the Bloomfield, as suitable for adults and young people but not for children under 12.
