Rummage Sale

The Birmingham Business Women's Club is holding a rummage sale tomorrow, Nov. 18 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the American Legion Home, 266 South Woodward.

Photographs for publication in The Eccentric must be submitted by Friday noon of the week before publication.

GIRL SCOUTS

Troops 9, 11 and 17 have all reported through their scribes the following activities of their troops:

Scout Sharon McKay of Troop 9 at Walnut Lake reports that officers have been elected. A hike and a marshmallow roast was held at the Lake, and at recent meetings the girls have been making blue flannelette mittens for the Needlework Guild.

A field trip to the Institute of Science at Cranbrook was another interesting activity. The girls enjoyed the exhibit "The Story of Hair and Fur". Each Saturday morning the Scouts of this troop attend the songfest at the Community House which is conducted by Miss Polly Hanson for all Girl Scouts who desire to learn Scout songs.

The Juliette Low Fund contribution from this troop is being increased by the sale of plastic Christmas cards.

Troop 17 Reports

Scribe Hilda Skelley of Troop 17 at Holy Name reports on a successful Halloween party at the home of their leader Mrs. Link. Guests of honor were Mrs. Du Charme (co-leader), Mrs. Greiner and Jo Ann Greiner. Refreshments were hot dogs, popcorn, cider and candy. Girl Scout calendars are now available for sale and Mrs. Link distributed calendars to each girl. Watch those calendars go, for troops now receive the full amount from their sale.

Troop Sews

Troop 11's scribe Martha Kasten reports that this Franklin troop had 19 Girl Scouts and 13 Brownies, also 3 leaders at the Franklin Community Church on Girl Scout Sunday. At their Oct. 31 meeting they sewed on baby nighties and at their last meeting the time was spent making plans for their train trip to Chicago next Spring.

Will Broadcast

Two of the speakers at the national Girl Scout convention at Milwaukee this week will broadcast over a national network and all Scouts and leaders are urged to tune in.

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth will broadcast tomorrow, Nov. 18 at 4:30 p.m., EST (she's the mother in "Cheaper by the Dozen", by the way), and Margaret Culkin Banning, authoress, will speak Saturday, Nov. 19, at 12:15 p.m. EST. Consult local newspapers for the station.

In the Land of the Big Feet

Robin Goodfellow, as played by Mrs. Allan Gornick, is shown above in a scene from the fantasy, "Prince Fairy Foot", teasing the wicked Stiffstep as portrayed by Mrs. R. E. Hulet.

The children's presentation is being produced by the Children's Theatre Group, AAUW on Nov. 22 in the Birmingham Theatre.

For the sixth consecutive year the Children's Theatre Group is bringing the stage and real live actors to the children of Birmingham. The Children's Theatre had its first beginning when AAUW under Mrs. H. Gruber, president, brought the Clara Tree Majors Players here in "Peter Pan" at the Bloomfield Theatre. Since this theatre has no stage, it was necessary to build one and erect a semblance of a curtain for the production.

In 1944, Mrs. S. R. Saunders, vice-president in charge of study groups, organized the Children's Theatre as a study group. They produced "The Indian Captive" with their own cast under the direction of Margaret Clifford, then dramatic coach of Kingswood. This was presented in two performances on Saturday in the Community House in and around three grand pianos on the Community House stage.

Mrs. William Milligan chairmaned the group in 1945 which produced "Alladdin" in the Community House.

Funds For Props

The next year, 1946, Mrs. S. R. Saunders was chairman. The group produced "The Elves and the Shoemaker" at the Birmingham Theatre in two performances to capacity audiences. The group brought in the Wayne University Players in "Rumpelstiltskin". The profits from this year provided enough money to buy some stage equipment which was formerly borrowed from Kingswood, Cranbrook and The Village Players.

In 1947 Mrs. Gilbert Gove organized the group for year long operations. A work group met twice monthly to study stage technique. One play was produced by the work group and three outside dramatic companies were presented. The next year the group presented four plays, two of their own productions, and tickets were offered on the season ticket plan.

Mrs. John A. Gilray, Jr., and Mrs. Anthony J. Daley are co-chairmen for the 1949-50 season. Four plays are being offered this season and "Prince Fairy Foot" is the group's own production which is to be presented Nov. 22. No single admissions will be available.

Dress rehearsal will be held Monday Nov. 21 at 3 p.m. in the Birmingham Theatre for AAUW members and guests. The Theatre Group regrets that children may not be admitted for the rehearsal performance because it it not possible to meet the added expense of adequate theatre ushers that would be necessary.
