

"Prince Fairy Foot" Next Children's Theatre Show

The Children's Theatre players are now in rehearsal for their next production, "Prince Fairy Foot" which is to be presented Nov. 22 in two performances at the Birmingham Theatre.

"Prince Fairy Foot," a delightful "out of this world" tale will in three acts capture the fancy and imagination of all. The action takes place in the mythical kingdom of Stumpingham, where the big-footed people live, and the kingdom with the biggest feet rules the land.

Mrs. William Breech is directing the production assisted by Mrs. John W. Klueberg. The cast includes: Lord Siffstep, Mrs. Rosa Hefet; Fleecedoot, Mrs. W. M. Milligan; Prince, Mrs. Wm. Kegal; Old Villager, Mrs. Henry L. Woodford; Queen Hammescheel, Mrs. W. G. Patton; Princess Maybloom, Mrs. George S. Dix; Rough Ruddy, Mrs. Lavonia Taber; Robin Goodfellow, Mrs. Alan L. Gornick; villagers, Mrs. A. D. Shadoin; Mrs. H. D. Clark; Mrs. John L. Shepherd; Mrs. D. C. Ensign; Mrs. An-

Dorothy Jackson, Edward Barnard Exchange Vows

The First Methodist Church was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Miss Dorothy J. Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Berton E. Jackson of West Frank street and Edward W. Barnard, the son of Mrs. E. Barnard of Detroit. The Rev. Robert Lawrance officiated at the six o'clock nuptials.

Given in marriage by her brother, G. Berton Jackson, the bride was in ivory satin which was fashioned with a square neckline edged with a lace border, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt which extended into a long train. Featured on the gown was a lace insert at the waistline. Her fingertip veil was held by a diminutive cap embroidered with seed pearls and she carried white roses centered with an orchid.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. G. Berton Jackson was gowned in gold satin styled with a square neckline and full skirt and her hat was a halo of matching braided satin while her flowers were an arm bouquet of red roses. The bridemaid, Miss Evelyn Payck of Detroit was wearing silver green satin of the same cut with a matching braided halo and carried red roses.

Best man was John Reiber of Detroit and the ushers, also from Detroit, included Peter Turner and Donald Gorman.

At the reception which was held in Royal Oak, Mrs. Jackson greeted the guests in blue falls with which she wore black accessories and Mrs. Barnard wore taupe with black accessories. Both
