Engineered Printing

The chances are, that in most cases, it costs no more if not less, to use the advise of a qualified counselor in doing any important job.

Talking as an example, you can waste a lot of money in paper alone if you just pick a size "out of the air" for your folder, booklet or broadside.

By planning, you can run a job more economically on one press than another if you know what format to use.

There are a great many other ways where a qualified counselor can save you money in your printing requirements.

How do you get this counsel? Here at The Eccentric our salesman KNOW what costs make up a job. They are qualified to help you engineer your printing.

Doesn't every printing salesman know how? You can answer this yourself by asking your present supplier's representative point-blank: "Tell me, in the next 30 minutes how can I save more money on exactly how much on this job?" If HE can answer the question on the spot, you are getting engineered printing service. If not, call in one of our salesmen and get your money's worth.
