

Lady, Can You Spare Some Time For The Girl Scouts?

Birmingham is proud of its Girl Scout organization which, numbering 655 girls and 195 adult leaders. But there are 62 youngsters in the seventh grade at Barium Junior high school who are being denied membership in this international and recognized organization.

The training and pleasure these youngsters are not receiving in a Girl Scout troop would make them strong and competent, personally, to help them to help themselves in all ways and to give them a feeling of belonging to a world group of the highest prestige, all these activities go far toward widening horizons for anyone, child or adult.

If a timid voice is heard saying "But I don't know anything about Girl Scouting except that it's a fine thing," the local training committee is ready with an intensive and complete course to help a woman to fill this position of leadership.

There must be some woman in Birmingham, young or middle-aged, on almost every street who has time on her hands and who could go into this richly rewarding field.

A wistful case is that of the girl who was asked to be admitted to a Girl Scout troop and who was told the troop was full and that until a leader for another group was secured, she would be on the waiting list. To which the youngster replied as she stood on the steps, "Is it all right if I wait right here?"

Lighten up! Keep Birmingham's girls waiting! For a leader is needed now. And that leader could be you.

GIRL SCOUTS

The 23 fourth grade Brownies of Troop 33 at Pierce school are all lined up for the starting whistle on their program of fall activities. Troop leader Mrs. Charles Blunt with her co-leader Mrs. T. James LaMeasure have been at work with their troop committee members, Mrs. Pat Gallagher, Mrs. Armande Issette, Mrs. August Jafano, Mrs. Walter Benacoter and Mrs. R. J. Ebers, each of whom is a specialist in a particular phase of Scouting, and the first troop meeting which was Tuesday, Oct. 4, featured a radio talent show.

A trip to the cider mill at Franklin on the books for the second meeting and these Brownies will learn how the presses operate and then refresh themselves with a sample of the product they have just seen being extracted. On Oct. 21, the girls will make an early evening visit to the observatory at Cranbrook. In between these many activities, the troop plans to make tray favors to decorate the Thanksgiving Day trays of hospitalized veterans at Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek.

To Be Married

Members of the family and close friends have been invited to the Oct. 15 nuptials of Miss Marjorie Brenkert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne D. Brenkert of their daughter, Margaret, and James Robert Fuller on Oct. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fitzgerald and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Campbell will be among the many localities attending the Michigan Army football game this coming Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Woodburn of Telegraph road recently spent the week-end in San Francisco, Calif., where they attended the Knight Templar's conclave.

If you desire 10 or more copies of The Eccentric which carries that wedding or engagement story, let us know no later than Tuesday noon of the week it is to be published. Then we can increase our prices just by that many and insure your getting the copies. Unless you let us know in advance, we cannot promise that you will be able to get the copies you want. It is an established fact that by the end of the week, current copies of The Eccentric are in such extremely short supply that you will have to wait. So play safe—if you know you want extra copies, order them in advance.
