Clark-Webb Vows Solemnized
In Christ Church Cranbrook

Following their marriage last Thursday in Christ Church Cranbrook, Mr. and Mrs. David Calvin Clark left on a motor trip to Canada. For traveling, the former Joy Eudora Webb, daughter of Mr.

of Grand Rapids, Mich., Miss Ann McDonald of Birmingham, and Miss Barbara Fry of Bloomfield Hills. Their dresses were exact copies of the bride's gown with small sweeping trains. The honor matrons were of gold satin and the bridesmaids were of copper satin. On their heads were Tulle caplets with English millinery veils in the back shaded to match and their flowers were informal arrangements of gladioli with ivy vines.

Harold R. Clark of Jacksonville, Fla., served his brother as best man and ushering the guests were William Wachtel of Jacksonville, Fla.; Ralph Olson of Chicago, Ill.; Seth Marshall II of Duluth, Minn.; George Henry Webb and Jervis C. Webb brothers of the bride at Birmingham and Thomas Price of Lakewood, Ohio.

For the wedding and reception which followed at the Webb residence, Mrs. Webb wore a gown of imported charity toast-toned lace with a turban hat of matching lace and nylon tulle and a shaded brown and green orchid. Mrs. Clark was in gray imported charity lace over orchid nylon tulle. Her hat was a matching gray with lavender and grey ostrich plumes and her corsage was made up of a shaded vanda orchid. The newlyweds will make their home in Elash, Ill., where Mr. Clark will complete his college studies.

Mrs. David C. Clark

and Mrs. Jervis R. Webb of Bloomfield Hills selected a three-piece ensemble of charme gabardine accented by dark brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mr. Clark is the son of Mrs. Edwih T. Clark, Jr., and the late Mr. Clark of Jacksonville, Fla. The couple was united by the Rev. Lawrence Pearson in an eight o'clock ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride carried a cascade arrangement of white stephanotis with white ivy and white orchids. Her cathedral length veil of imported antique illusion featured a pair of fingertip length hairroom lace from her mother's bridal gown and was held by a headpiece of lace in the same design. Her dress of antique ivory satin was fashioned with a basque waist and a high neckline with a double petal collar. A period effect was created by a circular tuck in front caught in the back by two softly tailored bows and the bouffant skirt twirled into a circular train.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Jervis C. Webb and Mrs. George Henry Webb, her sisters-in-law, matrons of honor and as bridesmaids, Mrs. K. David Leiser of New York City; Miss Nancy White
