A Neighborhood Gets Together

It is an acknowledged fact that the family is the strength of our country. And coming synonymously, after the family is the neighborhood and last is the story of the Fairfield Homes section, an area of Henrietta and Pierce streets in Birmingham.

Mostly from out of town, the residents have banded together to form new friendships in a new city and every so often on Saturday evenings the group gets together for a picnic supper and card party.

Last Saturday when the Emeralde Smiths and Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Purvis Jr., entertained the neighborhood, those present felt to discuss their home states and took a poll to discern the number of states represented by their little corner in Birmingham. They've come from New York, Indiana, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Illinois, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Ohio, Missouri, South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. Also represented are three foreign countries in Randolph Heizer who was born in Constantinople, Turkey; Philip Lindner of Elsdorf, Germany, and several families from Canada.

Where strangers with warm hearts get together there's always fun and a few practical jokes. The latest one concerned some "very young trees" which many of the people purchased not so long ago. They have been watering each other on whose tree will blossom and grow first and the fastest. So last week, deciding to be the first, Mr. and Mrs. Purvis decorated some of their trees with artificial fruit and leaves. When one neighbor went out to look at it, all ready with a disparaging "huh-huh, the worms had turned and the laugh" as on him.

To Marry

Donna Kramer

Working on Plans For Benefit to Be Held on Sept. 15

Members of the Briarbank society are making final plans for their card party and fashion show scheduled for September 15. Proceeds of the affair are to be used for an infirmary which is being erected at the St. Elizabeth Home for the Aged in Bloomfield Hills. The event will begin at 2:40 a.m. and is to be held at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Those working on the arrangements are Mrs. Otto Kern, Mrs. John Hammond, Mrs. Carl Usher, Mrs. Walter B. Williams and Mrs. H. M. Bacon. Others include Mrs. Mrs. Thomas J. Church, Mrs. James Goudie, Mrs. Theodore McManus, Jr., Mrs. John Ellwood, Mrs. Kenneth Sinclair, Mrs. George Baldwin, Mrs. Charles J. O'Connor and Mrs. Eldon Auker.

The Line Is Busy

BY DORIS E. KUS

Victor Herbert put it this way in a number from "Sweethearts": "Clever little woman we all understand that nature cannot make you what you can do by hand". Mr. Herbert has a good point there, for any fastidious (I mean knows it's plain simple-mindedness to put the matter of her appearance in the Nature's hands alone. I am what-I-am stuff is strictly passe.

Nowadays there's positively nothing left for the imagination what with the line of materials being offered on the market. Modern ingenuity, complemented by the changing in the form of "beautifying aids" has been overlooked. Down the line it goes, from gleaming to shining, from someone's Every shade and tone in face powder, lipstick, rouge and nail polish has been created for the woman's poor creative mind; face cream, dedicated to a multitude of purposes and a multitude of uses. They've even got to get up to the eye to make them clearer or apply a little of something else to accent the eyes with the proper dramatic shadow requirements. And in the face of all this, seems as if a gal just can't lose!

However, now that I get to thinking about it, from the looks of the situation, American womanhood apparently seems to be in a heck of a shape, or else why all these self-improvements available? Beginning to get into the picture because every time one turns around, there it is, some new advertising angle offering new allure which is hard to resist trying.

However, we gals are not to be mislead. Although a goodly number make the most of what they have, even then don't stop there, an even greater number are not so un-lucky that they place all the emphasis on the outward appearance. So that's why features on bettering one's conversation and developing one's personality and tips on dealing with others from the modern psychology angle are truly refreshing. As Shakespeare said, "there's no art to find the mind's construction in the face".

NEWS VIEWS

By THE KINCAIDS

September may be just another month to a lot of folks, but to mothers of school children and teachers it is a time when the kids stop asking questions and try to answer a few. Mothers gratefully breathe a sigh of relief. This is probably not echoed by the teachers. One thing about vacation time — it gives parents a chance to appreciate teachers.

A Long Beach, Calif., vitamin plant blew up the other day. Those vitamins must be dynamite. Wonder where a fellow could get a few. We don't know about the vitamins, but we do know where you can get the finest diamond in town . . . and that's at THE KINCAIDS, 213 East Maple Avenue, home of Keesape diamonds. Phone: 301.
