Annual Autumn Market is Scheduled for October 1

Saturday, Oct. 1, is the day set for the Holiday House committee of Girls' Friendly Society for the group's annual Autumn Market.

The market, as in previous years, will take place on the grounds of the Girls' Friendly vacation camp at Pine Lake, on Middlebelt road just north of West Long Lake road. It will offer the fruits, flowers and vegetables of harvest time as well as a variety of other articles.

Mrs. Rogers I. Marquis, of Birmingham, is market chairman with Mrs. A. B. Allen as vice-chairman. Committee members include Miss Frances W. Sibley, honorary chairman, and Mrs. George Rogers Clark, chairman of Holiday House committee.

This eighteenth annual market, like its predecessors, will be a get-together of interested women of Birmingham, Bloomfield, Detroit, Grosse Pointe and the counties around. It is a benefit for the vacation camp and the Girls' Friendly Society.

Assisting will be members from Girls' Friendly branches. GFS of Michigan is sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Market hours will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Luncheon, limited to 300, will be served from 12 to 2 o'clock. Mrs. William E. Rice, of Southfield road, is chairman. Luncheon tickets may be purchased from committee members or at the Girls' Friendly office at St. Paul's Cathedral House, Woodward at Hancock, Detroit.

Chairmen Listed

Booths and their chairmen will be: country store, Miss Myrtle Armstrong; jams and jellies, Miss Frances Sibley and Mrs. A. B. Allen; baked goods with homemade bread a specialty, Mrs. Sheldon R. Noble of Birmingham; delicatessen, Mrs. E. C. Spindler, assisted by Mrs. George Dallas Clark, of Bloomfield Hills.

Couple United Saturday In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Carol Virginia McCrea and Shane Louis Pointer were married Saturday afternoon in the Fairmount Presbyterian Church. The bride, the daughter of Mr. James Birney McCrea, Jr., of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Pointer of Yorkshire road exchanged vows before the Rev. John Schott at an altar banked with vases of white gladioli, pompons and dahlias.

Miss McCrea wore an ivory satin gown with a court train edged in pearls. The neckline of the dress was wide and a deep piece of rose point lace formed a yoke which extended from the bodice over the top of her long sleeves and in front of the skirt was a deep bounce of the same lace extending diagonally down from a point. Her veil of heirloom Brussels lace formed her cap which was bordered with a flaring trim and she carried a prayer book with gardenias and stephanotis.

The maid of honor was Miss Madalya Breitzke of Little Rock, Ark.; the bridesmaids included the Misses Patricia Trotter of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Sally McDonald of Birmingham; Martha Sawyer and Patricia Wilbert of Shaker Heights. All wore gowns of lime green velvet fashioned with deep square necklines, shirred bodices and long skirts with bustle backs and small trains. On their heads were matching shirred bonnets. The four bridesmaids carried bouquets of gold daisy type pompons and Miss Breitzke's flowers were gold pompons combined with a deeper rust shade.

Best man was Boyce Orr of Hendersonville, N. C., and seating the guests were Alexander James McCrea III, brother of the bride; Herbert Frank of Silver Springs, Md.; Donald Wilson of Birmingham and Henry Davis, Jr. of Hendersonville.

Mrs. McCrea wore a brown gown with a brown hat with a length dress of ecru lace with a matching hat.

Following the reception which was held at the Cleveland Skating Club, the couple left on a motor trip through the Smoky Mountains. After Oct. 1, they will make their home in Silver Springs, Md.
