Apprentice Students at Will-O-Way Display Talents in Special Show

"See How They Run" the comedy success at Will-O-Way in Eloise Hills goes into its final week closing the season at the apple-barr theater on West Long Lake road, Sunday evening, September 11. The British farce which presents the talents of Minnie J. Curtis, Robert Bryson, Ross Callaway, Gerald M. Harrington and George M. Hunter, among others, is the last of a 10-week season offered by Will-O-Way's founder, director and producer William W. Merrill.

Labor Day saw the end of a summer's labor of love by the students at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater when they assembled before a packed house (apple barn) to deliver character studies embodying the principles of their ten-week thespian training.

In two sections, Junior and senior, the young hopefuls will go on for more schooling in the acting arts to take their places some day before professional footlights.

Of All Ages

However, not all of the seven pupils have taken Mrs. Cella Merrill Turner's Apprentice Theater course with professional board treading in mind. Kenyon Martin of Detroit (14 years old) took the course of instruction which includes an introduction and experience in every conceivable facet of theatrical work, because he intends to study law and considers the stage presence gained in the actual training necessary to his chosen career.

Carol Rosenberger of 3465 S. Bradway, Birmingham (15 years old), a talented student of piano and in every conceivable facet of theatrical work, because he intends to study law and considers the stage presence gained in the actual training necessary to his chosen career.

Janet Rose, 16831 Robson, Detroit, (14 years old) comes by her yen for the grease paint naturally—her grandmother was a teacher of music and dramatics and her mother was an opera singer. Janet has seriously in mind continuing her studies to become an actress.

Graduates this year are Mary Armitage, daughter of Gloria Gluski, of Detroit; Mary Hanes of Highland Park and Milton Todd of Pontiac. These gifted young people all seriously contemplate theatrical futures. Miss Ar-strong, 19, is a crack secretary who has been on leave of absence from her office position in that could satisfy her heart's desire for footlight activities.

Miss Gluski, 18, who has appeared in two Will-O-Way plays this summer, will continue her promising career. She has participated in a number of school plays at Mackenzie High where she graduated, and was named president of that school's chapter of the National Honor Society.

Miss Hanes, 17, will enter Wesley College this fall with a special ambition in theatrical work, having captured first prize in a National Editorial and Scholastic contest. Miss Hanes will continue her joint interest in journalism and the theater with eventual dramatic criticism in mind.

Castroville, Calif.

Todd, 21, has been accepted for the Cleveland Playhouse season this fall—no small honor for a theatrical aspirant. He will study there to improve upon the skills developed at Will-O-Way. Milton enters the theater from the backstage point of view having acquired expert carpentry skills while in the army. He will have made him an apt student of set building.

Apprentice Theater course actually consists of four distinct courses. The first is theory and practice of acting. In the course the students do 40 hours of class work and 45 of lab work. The second is technical studies of history of drama and the theater. This is an introduction to all periods of drama and the study of reading plays from the different periods of literature. The third is the technical studies which takes the apprentices behind the footlights for an orientation consisting of 40 hours in class and 10 doing lab work.

Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater is a school in the community which has anything comparable to its course in the Theater As A Profession. Here the students learn some of the things so important to an actor, such as, theatrical procedure, costumes, rehearsals, how to approach a play from the director's viewpoint, how to handle the audience, how to live with them and even how to turn a flop into a personal triumph.

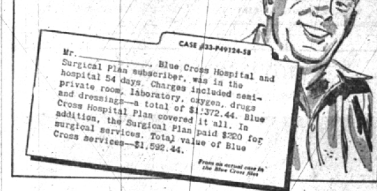

After the fun and work of the ten-week course, the junior apprentices have a good idea of theater's workings and the graduating seniors move on to professional employment and further study in the career they are selected.

FOLKS take a look at those bumper-guard grilles—built as a unit and proof against "locking horns"—and say "Hmmm! Nice!"

They sweep their eyes over tapering fenders, with a suggestion of jet power in their after contours—and say, "That's for me!"

They eye-measure windshields that are 48% bigger and rear windows with 56% more area—and know without being told they can see the road up closer, both fore and aft.

So they say—"That's for me—If!"

"What does it cost me to get this handy-sized dandy with the roomiest interiors ever found on a Buick Special?"

"What do I pay for high-compression, high-pressure Fireball power from a big Buick straight-eight engine?"

"What's the tag on that swell Buick ride, with coil springing, extra-wide rims, seats between the axles and all that?"

"And what about Dynaflo Drive—understand I can have that at extra cost—how much?"

Well, sir, the news is good. Plenty good. Because this honey's priced well under your expectations. It's a straight-eight that's priced under a lot of sixes—over the years your investment will be no more than for any other car.

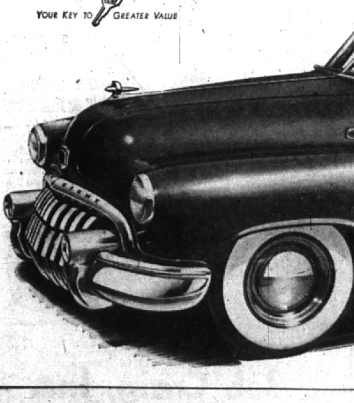

So better not stop with looking. Better price it too—delivered at your door. Your Buick dealer will give you the figures, even demonstrate.

After which you'll do as others are doing—you'll get a firm order in.

CLUB 1930

Next Tuesday evening is the time! The Club 1930 Billiard Room and all its facilities will be opened to members of the 19-30 Club. And if you aren't one of the gang, the door's wide open and the welcome mat is out, brand new and waiting for this coming year of fun and frolic.

For the newcomers in town, the 19-30 game is made up of rail and guys between those ages. Each Tuesday and Thursday evening they fill the Billiard Room for dancing, cards, ping pong and pool. But that's not all.

Plans are made early in the season for special events such as dances, trips to various spots around this neck of the woods for steak fries, wiener roasts, chicken dinners. In a group, they drive into Detroit to see special shows. They have hay-rides and sleigh-rides and all the time get to know one another and develop mutual interests. The climax of the year is the spring formal dance where everyone has a chance to get out of their jeans and into their smoothest and latest ensemble. So come on down, one and all and join the crowd. You'll be well and you'll have fun, you'll come back again.
