Two Crashes Here Early Sunday Give Police Hectic Time

Trouble came double for the Birmingham police department early Sunday morning.

Officers were investigating an accident at 552 South Woodward when a crash on Hunter boulevard announced the second mishap.

The first accident happened when a car driven by Bennie J. Fishwind of Ferndale struck a parked car, climbed the curb and knocked down a traffic sign.

Fishwind was injured, but a passenger, Miss Elaine Pollack of Royal Oak, suffered injuries to her hand and ankle. She was released after treatment at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Appearing before Justice John J. Gaffi, Fishwind paid a $15 fine on a drunk and disorderly charge.

THE SECOND ACCIDENT resulted in minor injuries to the driver, Frank K. Anderson, 19, of Detroit.

Anderson, apparently travelling at a fast pace, entered the center street, completely spotted one elm tree, stepped the top of a second and damaged a third. After proceeding down the street 600 feet the car turned sideways and continued for another 70 feet. As it entered the Hunter-Haynes intersection, the car tipped over and landed on its top in the southbound Hunter lanes.

Police said the car was a complete loss and that Anderson was released from St. Joseph Mercy hospital after emergency treatment for head injuries.

He was arrested on a reckless driving charge and released on bond of $100, to face trial at a later date.

Southfield Area Traffic Problems Undergoing Study

By Lillian Diederich

A study of traffic problems in front of the Annie Lathrup School, where several accidents have taken place, is being made by State Police and the Lathrup Men's club, headed by William Mikulas, president.

Under consideration for the school area is a study of traffic speed, off-street parking for school personnel, limited parking space removal of the bike rack, a different bus stop and "Children Crossing" signs at the north and south ends of the school where most of the accidents have happened.

Attending a special meeting to help solve the problem were Sheriff Deputy Frank J. Van Arne, State Trooper Joe Chaput, principal of the school, Miss Kathryn McLean, PTA members Mrs. Ray Heyn, Mrs. Hulley Taggart, Mrs. John Coup, William Mikulas and Robert Osgood of the forestry division of the county road commission.

STATE POLICE are also working with local organizations to control a traffic situation at 12 Mile and Lahser, which has become a public hazard. At a safety meeting last week, Corp. Chaput reported two fatalities and 10 injuries at the intersection in a year. An over-all survey proved the type of accidents indicate a failure to observe the stop sign.

Recommendations to Oakland county road commission include: advance warnings 400 feet east and west of the intersection; 36-inch reflecting stop signs to replace the present 16 inch ones; an observing period by state police and the road commission, in which they would check driver behavior and changes in traffic control where necessary.

General news deadline is 5 p. m. each Tuesday.

Building Plans

tive, the commission should receive new construction plans in sufficient time for review and for builder's changes, if any are suggested and agreed upon," Mrs. Loomis concluded.

That this does work in actual practice is illustrated by two other recent examples.

The Sun Oil Co. submitted plans for a commercial type building to be erected at Hunter Blvd. and East Maple. The plans did not meet the approval of the commission. After discussion with the commission, the company presented new plans for a building with softened lines which were immediately approved by the commission.

ELLIOTT S. Kinney, chairman of the plan commission's sub-committee on commercial building plans, said, "The Sun Oil Co. is to be complimented for its cooperation in following the recommendations of the commission."

"As a result, Birmingham will have a building which will be much more attractive and appropriate than the hard-line commercial type originally planned. I know the residents of the city will appreciate this cooperative attitude."

The Standard Oil Co. also submitted plans for two gasoline stations at Southfield and 14 Mile and at 14 Mile and Woodward. Plans for a colonial style building at the Southfield location were immediately approved by the plan commission.

BUT PLANS for a commercial type building on Woodward were rejected. This firm also submitted new plans for a more suitable type building at the Woodward Avenue location and they have been approved.

These are minor examples, to be sure.

But they illustrate a way in which the plan commission serves not only the people of Birmingham, but the companies who want their buildings to be an asset as well as a physical contribution to Birmingham.

Next Season's U of M Basketball Captain

CHUCK MURRAY

Birmingham is proud of Charles "Chuck" Murray who was a main cog in the University of Michigan basketball machine the past season. "Chuck's" popularity with his teammates was manifested at the close of the season when they chose him captain to lead the Wolverine court squad next season.

Chuck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Murray of Tilbury was a former Baldwin High school sports star and honor student. He is carrying on stoutly in both phases of activity at Michigan.

During the season just passed, Chuck served as the spark plug for the team, pulling several close games out of the fire with timely points and playing exceptionally well defensively.

HE WAS THE hottest man on the team, scored 141 points in 22 games on 42 field goals and 63 free throws. There was an average of 6.0 points per game. His free throws were made in 94 tries for a remarkable percentage.

Much is expected of him in next year's campaign.
